not sanctioned by statute," he said.

Strike action would be a breach of the oath of office taken by the employees on joining the service, Mr. Bonner said.

The attorney-general criticized the association executive for telling the members they had the right to strike.

"I think they have received poor advice when it is suggested to them that they have the right to turn the services off and on."

Mr. Bonner attacked what he said was "propaganda" put out by the association executive.

"Individual members of the government are personally resentful of the very obvious attempts that have been made to color the constitutional position of the executive as an attitude antagonistic to labor."

The position of the government has been that it is directed by "what we believe to be constitutional limitations on our actions."

"Our position is defined by statute, and can't be changed by whim."

Mr. Black said a "fairly elaborate" bargaining procedure was already established under the Civil Service Act, which had never been fully used by the association.

Mr. Bonner said the government had a "duty" to maintain services under provincial statutes.

It is the government view that all services are essential, and the attorney-general described as "remarkable" a suggestion that the association should decide what services should be maintained.

This was a usurpation of the functions of the ministers, he said.

There is "not the slightest possibility" that there would be interruption in the maintenance of provincial jails.

"I am not asking them (prison workers) to stay on the

Czech Reds Hail Kremlin Bosses

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UP)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin carried the new party line to their Czech comrades in a whistle-stopping train trip to Prague today.

The Soviet leaders crossed the border from the Ukraine today and were met by a group of top ranking Czech Communist officials. The two groups joined forces and continued their journey toward this capital city along a route that was decorated with flags, bunting and slogans and marked by enthusiastic receptions from local populace.

Presumably the Soviet travellers filled in their travelling companions on the details of the recent Kremlin purges which ousted V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich, and the rise of Khrushchev to undisputed top rank in Moscow.

job. I expect it," Mr. Bonner said.

ONE OF SIX

Only one of six Social Credit members of the legislature questioned in the Vancouver area gave solid support to Premier Bennett in the dispute with the province's civil servants.

Bert Price of Vancouver Burrard gave strong support to letters sent to government employees advising them if they strike they will be fired. But mixed reactions came from Fred Sharp of Vancouver East.

Thomas Bate of Point Grey and Mel Bryan of Vancouver North.

Mr. Sharp said he thought the civil servants' "requests for trade union rights, arbitration and salary raises were... fair enough."

"The members haven't been consulted," he said. "I think we should have a one or two-day session of the legislature."

The British Columbia Federation of Labor has offered support to the civil servants.

An official of the 100,000 member organization said the federation will ask Premier Bennett to start negotiating "immediately" with the Government Employees Association.

George Home, secretary of the labor federation, said the federation "will call upon all affiliates to give all support to the association."

The association demand for bargaining rights is the main stumbling block in the dispute.

The civil servants want to submit their present demand for a 13 per cent average over all wage increase to an impartial arbitration board, which would also decide future agreements.

Tory Cabinet Plans New Look At Internal Security System

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Progressive Conservative cabinet plans to take a new look at the government security system, it was learned Monday.

This review will involve two problems: Exchange of security information with the United States and possible overhaul of the government's internal security system.

The first of these stems from the April 4 suicide of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Cairo, after the U. S. Senate internal security sub-committee received 1951 charges that he was a Communist.

In late 1951, the RCMP sent a report to the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation that one of its secret agents in 1940 had reported that Mr. Norman was a member of the Communist party. Six weeks later, the RCMP informed the FBI that its original report was false. However, the original report branding Mr. Norman as a Communist in 1940 fell into the hands of the U. S. Sen-

It was this false report which was a Communist. The sub-committee apparently used to allege that Mr. Norman was a Communist.

Zhukov Returns To Power

Stalin Exiled Red War Hero 4 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior U.S. officials, in a new assessment of the shake-up in the Russian high command, have concluded that Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov now stands as the second most powerful man in the Soviet Union.

At the moment, they believe he is fully supporting the top man, party chief Nikita Khrushchev.

They seem inclined now to credit Zhukov with a possibly decisive role in crushing the challenge to Khrushchev's No. 1 position during the stormy Kremlin developments of the last two weeks.

Zhukov, as a representative of the Red Army can be expected to play an increasingly important role, especially now that he has been elevated to full membership in the party Praesidium.

"EXILED" BY STALIN
This amounts to an amazing comeback for the Soviet war hero who, until a little more than four years ago, was in effect exiled by Stalin to a relatively obscure army command in the Crimea.

Zhukov's backing of Khrushchev has set some officials to wondering what this support has cost the Soviet party chief. The question they ask is: Has Khrushchev been forced to become a captive of the Red Army in order to survive the struggle for power?

The sudden shake-up which resulted in the ouster of six Kremlin leaders, officials believe, has added to the army's already high influence within the inner circle.

Heat Total 288 Across Continent

ROME (AP)—The death toll of one of Europe's worst July heat waves rose today to at least 288, including 52 enfeebled old folks who died in 36 hours in Italy's crowded homes for the aged.

Showers appeared to have broken the back of the nine-day torrid wave across north Europe from Britain through Scandinavia. But throughout scorched central Europe and down the sun-blistened Italian peninsula deaths rocketed and there was no relief in sight. A week of 100-degree temperatures in Italy alone had taken at least 96 lives.

West Germany had at least 68 dead, 50 of them from drowning. Temperatures there were slipping back to the middle 80s, however. Water shortages and danger of infection caused some communities to close public swimming pools.

Austria, still in the grip of the worst heat wave since 1873, counted 35 dead.

The engineer of a local train near Wiener Neustadt collapsed and fell from his cab. With passengers unaware of their peril, the train ran with no one at the controls until a fireman saw what had happened and pulled an emergency brake.

Special Course For Draughtsmen Attended By 19

A special three-month course in survey, mapping and engineering drafting was started by 19 students Monday at the F. T. Fairley Vocational School.

It is the first course of its kind sponsored by the provincial government, and is aimed at filling a demand for trained draughtsmen in the civil service.

The free course will cover work which takes nine months to cover in eastern schools.

'Pressure Group' Disturbs Wurtele

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today he is disturbed that a "definite pressure group" plans to ask the Capital Improvement District Commission for funds to develop Elk-Beaver Lake.

Top priority for park development should be given to the Gorge, he said.

"The people in Esquimalt are quite disturbed when they read that Reeve Ash is trying to appropriate funds for Elk-Beaver Lake."

Last year the provincial cabinet turned down requests for beautification of Gorge Park and of Elk-Beaver Lake.

WENT ALONG

"We were a little disturbed but we were willing to go along with the cabinet's decision," the reeve said. "Now we're very disturbed that a definite pressure group is again asking for funds to develop Elk-Beaver Lake."

Coun. James Bryant, chairman of Esquimalt parks committee, said Monday he will recommend that the municipality once more press the CIDC for $106,000 to develop the Gorge.

Reeve Wurtele said he would "certainly accept such a recommendation" at a council meeting next Monday.

HOLDING BAG

Esquimalt will be "left holding the bag" if the Kinsmen develop the Victoria side of the Gorge and the CIDC develops Elk-Beaver Lake, Coun. Bryant said.

"It should be brought to public attention that the Gorge Park in Esquimalt is already dedicated to park usage, while the other areas are not."

Estimated cost of developing the 21-acre site is $105,798. This includes cleaning of beach areas, provision of a fresh water supply, construction of a pavilion, ornamental lighting, amusement facilities, playgrounds, softball field, picnic areas, parking lots, wading pools, roads and footpaths.

Hospital Asks Gov't to Avert Nurses' Strike

PENTICTON (CP) — The medical staff of Penticton Hospital Monday appealed to the provincial government to send a senior official to "avert the calamity" of a threatened nurses' strike.

The doctors said in a telegram to Premier Bennett and Health Minister Eric Martin the government must accept full responsibility for any "untoward results" if the strike takes place. They protested lack of action on a telegram they sent June 18.

The Chance of Economy

ONE OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S first acts, Mr. Diefenbaker tells The Financial Post, will be to establish a royal commission on governmental economy. As he promised during the election campaign, the Prime Minister proposes to set up the equivalent of the famous Hoover Commission in the United States.

The Hoover Commission recommended many reforms in the machinery of government and some of them have been carried out. But after all these attempts at economy the American Government's budget is higher today than it ever was in peacetime. Mr. Hoover has been bitterly disappointed with the results of his work.

All Canadians will hope that Mr. Diefenbaker's commission can do better. In the end, however, the outcome will depend not on the commission but on the Government and on Parliament. A group of experts can recommend economies but they can be carried out only through the process of politics and against the resistance of powerful interests, inside and outside the Government.

Mr. Diefenbaker must be counting heavily on the chance of reducing the Government's overhead costs. For he has promised a reduction in total expenditures while also promising vast increases in individual expenditures. He has also promised heavy reductions in taxation which would be justified only if the total expenditures were reduced or revenues rose unexpectedly.

In his statement to The Financial Post the Prime Minister says that the chief cause of inflation is the high cost of "big government", the state's demand for goods and services.

This undoubtedly is true. But when one surveys the present structure of government and Mr. Diefenbaker's plans to expand it in many directions one cannot easily see how its total cost, its demands on the people's energies, are to be curtailed significantly.

The fact is that most of the Federal Government's expenditures have been committed far in advance by law. For example, the cost of such social services as old age pensions, children's allowances and health grants inevitably increases with the increase in population, even if the rates of individual payment are not increased at all.

The interest on the public debt must be paid. The Federal Government has committed itself to finance a large part of the cost of provincial government and Mr. Diefenbaker has promised to give the provinces still more money. Soon Ottawa must finance about half the cost of nationwide hospital insurance.

The possible field of economy is thus much narrower than it looks if one observes the budget whole. There can be little doubt, however, that in a structure of government so vast and constantly increasing there must be substantial waste which Parliament has been unable to detect or remedy and which a royal commission may be able to reveal.

The largest item of "controllable" as distinct from committed and "uncontrollable" expenditure, is the defence budget, now taking about a third of our total taxes.

Few Canadians would wish to damage the nation's military preparedness in the present state of the world, though a sharp cut in the defence budget would certainly be the easiest way out of the Government's financial dilemma.

But General Peck, V.C., an experienced soldier, may find ways of saving money without reducing the effectiveness of the armed services. He has frequently indicated his belief that money is wasted in his department and doubtless he will try to eliminate this waste.

It will be some time, of course, before Mr. Diefenbaker's royal commission can complete its work, probably a year at least. Meanwhile the costs of government certainly are going up to fulfil Mr. Diefenbaker's various policies. Big government, however he may deplore it, will grow bigger.

Nobody's Holding Them Back

FEW BRITISH COLUMBIANS will urge the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors to abandon their efforts to return to Russia.

Members of the sect have proved unassimilable and indigestible to this part of Canada. They have sought to assert their own special "rights" to "peace" with a violence unequalled by any organized group within the province. Arson, explosives, and disregard of school laws have been their instruments.

The most charitable hope harbored for them is that they may find some corner of the world where they do not come into conflict with the rules society lays down for its own preservation. To Western eyes it seems ironic that they should expect to find a haven in the Soviet Union. If they can, good luck to them.

There can be little sympathy for the wilful disregard of the laws of the province shown by this group. The misdemeanors of the Sons of Freedom cannot be condoned. Nor will the point be overlooked that for all their claims of simplicity the Sons of Freedom have proved themselves able propagandists.

At the same time, Canadians, or British Columbians, can find little pride in the course this province has had to pursue—necessary as it might have been—in handling the recalc-trants. Sons of Freedom children have been taken away from their parents on substantially the same legal grounds on which unsatisfactory parents are separated from their offspring in other situations—for the benefit of the children. Whatever the justification, this is cruel punishment.

The authorities have logically assumed, with the support of a majority of the public, that people who make their homes within Canada should respect Canadian ideals and principles. There can be little hope for a nation if such general respect is not shown. As far as the Sons of Freedom are concerned, it has not been shown. We have failed to prove to these people that our way of life is desirable.

British Columbia and Canada would willingly watch them depart. The Sons of Freedom problem is not much closer to a solution today than ever. How could there be a solution when the group insists on the privilege of ignoring the law as a prerequisite of good behavior?

But if they do go, one point in their criticism should be noted. They repeat continually that Canada is too materialistic. Perhaps, for our own good, we might give thought to that charge.

All Together

IT WAS A PLEASANT COINCIDENCE that produced a spectacular sunspot just as the International Geophysical Year dawned on July 1. The flare-up on the sun's surface constitutes a challenging commencement for the planned 18 months of joint study of our globe and its environment by scientists of more than 60 nations.

It was a happy augury that the first observation of this sunspot should have been made by Russian observers and flashed by them to relay stations throughout the world. While sunspots are a very common occurrence, this large one will come under special scrutiny by the experts, who will correlate their findings for the common good.

The project is one of hundreds which will be carried out between now and the end of 1958, including polar expeditions, study of the ocean depths and launching of one or more small space satellites.

The co-operation of the Russians is a reminder that men of all nations and ideologies can unite in furtherance of a common objective. What is now being achieved in the realm of scientific investigation could be duplicated in other fields—disarmament to name but one. Given the desire to accomplish and the confidence of all parties in the good faith of the others, no obstacle would be too great to surmount.

If the International Geophysical Year proves to be the success it promises, it might well serve as a forerunner for other joint enterprises, resulting eventually in a community of effort towards even more vital objectives.

Glory of the Morning

ONCE we had a friendly bus driver out our way who would slow down and honk outside the house when I failed to appear at the regular stop, 20 feet east, for the five-past-eight inbound.

One blast from his horn and I'd dash out like Dagwood, leap into the bus and grin self-consciously while my fellow passengers made their conventional cracks about sleeping in.

It made me feel important. Then there came a day when I jumped up from the table, dropped my cigarettes in the dishpan and tried to stuff a half-filled cup of coffee into my hip pocket. Catching the bus hardly seemed worthwhile when it caused such discomfort.

No, drivers honk in front of my home now if I don't appear for the five-past-eight. And since nobody expects me to board the quarter-to-eight, which I should, that bus sails by in high gear. It sailed by in high gear the other day as I waddled from the front door, knotting my tie and hoping I wouldn't trip over my untied shoelaces. That gave me 20 minutes free time, with two minutes out for cussing.

SEDUCTIVE

The experience was seductive. I'm tempted to do it again. For a quarter of an hour I loafed down the lot where the garden shone, weeds and all, in the dew. The roses, even the drooping ones, gave off a prodigious scent. The waterfront exhaled its fresh morning breath, kelpy and salt, which is an aroma you learn to enjoy, like a taste for olives.

Down in the shallows the big blue heron we call Ichabod fished with awkward dignity. Small birds, their early clamor stifled by the risen sun, darted from the choke-cherries to the raspberries.

Out from the bay the Strait lay like wrinkled blue satin. A freighter, its superstructure catching the sun's rays, shone in suspension. The Olympics loomed clear at the peaks.

It made a man breathe deep. He found himself murmuring the Browning piece about "morning's at seven"—Standard time, that is.

I mentioned this to one of my distinguished colleagues who writes like mad to make enough money to permit him to break his health as an amateur gardener.

LOSE THE BEST PART

Yes, he said, we lose the best part of the day. Then he shattered our forenoon conversation by announcing he'd been up since 4 o'clock, gardening. The sky, he added, had been a great blue bowl over him. No breath of wind had blown. The day had shone in new grandeur.

"Right now," he continued, "I'm dead. I can scarcely keep my eyes open. If I can drive home, I'm going to bed."

Well, I've always figured 41 o'clock was a good time to hit the hay. Hadn't thought of 11 a.m. though.

Which only goes to prove how little we know about the way other folk live.

I envy the early risers their enjoyment of the morning. And I'm going to do something about it.

Tonight I shall set my alarm for 5.45. When it goes off the sun will be above the mountains in the east. The world, or this part of it, will shine clean and new-washed. The senses of sight and smell will revel in the pervading freshness. An early beach-comber and his dog will be walking the shore, seeing what the tide brought in.

In the garden the earth will be moist, foliage crisp. Flower petals will cup small drops of water. Ichabod will be fishing again in the shallows and small birds will be on the wing.

And there I'll be, luxuriously snug on my foam-rubber mattress under my warm blankets, just lying and thinking of the morning's splendor—with the gratifying knowledge that I won't have to get up for another hour yet.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Large Legs

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Several times in this column I have commented on the large legs that distress so many women. As I have said, they are not due to varicose veins, but to some probably inborn narrowing of the tiny vessels that carry the lymph fluid that bathes the cells in the layer of tissue under the skin. So far as I can find, there is no medicine that does any good. The operations that have sometimes been performed are a bit dangerous, and the surgeons I have talked to were reluctant to try them.

Now, a woman writes to say that she had these big legs. She used to have a terrible time coughing, until she tried an anti-histaminic drug. This not only stopped her cough but, to her great joy, it caused her ankles to become slim again. I doubt if this will work for many people, but some can try it.

* Another woman writes to say that she went to a great clinic where they told her that they knew of no way of helping her except to have her wear each day an 18-gauge rubber bandage, sometimes called a Rochester bandage. Now she puts it on each morning as soon as she gets up. She puts it over a light cotton stocking which absorbs the perspiration. With this, she is happy because her legs are not so large. If she has to go out in the evening, she takes off the bandage and the legs remain normal in size for a few hours.

Another person reports that once, when her ankles swelled badly, her doctor found she had an acute form of athlete's foot due to a fungus growing between her toes. He cleared this up with an ointment containing sulphur and a little salicylic acid and that was the end of the swelling. Another woman says that part of her swelling of the legs was due to fat. She dieted and took off 30 pounds, and now her legs are not so ugly.

CEREBRAL PALSED CHILDREN

I was just reading of a school in Los Angeles where children with cerebral palsy are being greatly helped. Many of them have to be carried in, unable to walk, perhaps unable to talk, perhaps unable to feed themselves. They are only able to grunt or groan. Often, after six or 18 months, they are sent home, able to dress themselves, feed themselves, walk by themselves, and even talk.

Fortunately, many of these children have a normal intelligence. In some cases one great difficulty has been that at home the mother did everything for the handicapped child, and as a result, the child never learned to do anything. At the school, the children are induced to play games in which they learn to do many things. For instance, a little boy is put in a sand-box and given a spoon. After a while, after weeks of shoveling sand, he is able to shovel food into his mouth.

He is given a board with holes in it, and is asked to fit the blocks into the holes. Again, in this way, he learns to use his hands and arms and fingers. He is taught to finger-paint, and this teaches him to co-ordinate the movements of his arms and hands. A boy will be set down before an imitation telephone switch-board, where he has to put plugs into sockets. With this, he learns how to stretch out his arms and control their movements. In order to help him to speak, the teacher may put a little tab of peanut butter on the roof of his mouth, and then get him to lick it off with his tongue. In this way he learns to make certain tongue movements which are needed if he is to pronounce certain sounds in speech.

Britain Plans New Bill To Aid Mental Patients

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is going to revise her health laws to give 90,000 mental patients a bill of rights guaranteeing certain freedoms.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler told Parliament Monday night the government would change antiquated laws relating to mental illness as recommended in a report presented in May by an independent royal commission.

The 1,368-page report, which was three years in preparation, was issued during a period of increased interest in the lot of mental defectives.

The report was packed with stories of injustices to sane patients who couldn't get themselves free from hospitals, of insane persons who couldn't get admitted, of ill-treatment and injustice.

Britons were shocked to read of a voluntary woman patient who, in attempting to sign herself out of a hospital, actually found she had signed a paper certifying her as a compulsory patient.

There were stories of patients who were freed but not informed of the fact, or not freed because they had become so useful in helping take care of other patients.

One patient, admitted after he tried to sue his commanding officer, was so obviously sane that he was given keys to the hospital, and ran his business during the day, returning to sleep in the hospital at night.

The National Spastic Society complained that in one mental hospital alone 300 perfectly sane spastics were kept and treated as mental patients.

MAJOR TASK

Butler said carrying out the commission report, which emphasizes a square deal for the patient above all else, will be a "major task." That cannot be carried out this year.

The commission called for more voluntary treatment of patients, with admission the same as that in general hospitals and no firm rule saying how long patients must stay.

Review tribunals would be set up to hear appeals from compulsory patients.

Senile patients, spastics and others would be admitted to special hospitals or homes not classified as mental.

Much of the commission's report stressed public education. Terminology that might create prejudice like "idiot" or "im-

Ways to Improve Narcissi Crop

Narcissi, that group of bulbs which includes trumpet daffodils, jonquils, and cluster daffodils, increase by offsets which develop from the large mother bulbs.

Flattish on one side, these new bulbs are known as slabs, and will not produce large flowers until they have formed round bulbs.

When an old clump of narcissi makes a lot of leaf growth (grass) and few flowers it is because the large bulbs have divided into many slabs. This condition calls for action.

The clump should be dug, the bulbs separated and planted individually. Now the foliage has ripened this work can be done immediately, the separated bulbs either being replanted at once or stored in shallow boxes (single layers) until September.

When separating the bulbs and slabs, pinch each one to make sure it is firm. Any which feel soft or spongy should receive a good squeeze, and if a brown gummy substance with a pungent odor appears at the neck or base it indicates the presence within the bulb of the narcissus bulb grub.

The easiest way to destroy the grub is to put the bulbs into a hot fire, or cover them with water and boil for an hour.

Throwing away bulbs permits the grub to develop and continue infesting the good bulbs in the garden.

Examine the base of each bulb to determine the condition of the basal plate, the corky piece from which the roots emerge. If this is damaged, or can be removed easily with the thumb nail, the bulb will not produce good roots or flowers and should be destroyed.

Robbery Probed In Crash Death Of Judy Tyler

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—Authorities Monday investigated the possibility that the body of actress Judy Tyler, killed in a highway crash a week ago, was robbed of two diamond rings.

Miss Tyler and her husband of four months, Gregory Lafayette, were victims of a collision near Rock River, Wyo., in which Donald Jones, 23 of Hanna, Wyo., also died.

Police said the two diamond rings, valued at "several thousand dollars," were not on her finger when officers reached the accident scene, and were not found among her effects. The only cash on Lafayette's body was a dime in one of his pockets.

NEW YORK, July 9 (E.N.)—According to a report heard over WQXR, the radio station of the New York Times, the Consul General of Monaco reports "the Grace Kelly wedding stamps are completely sold out." However, these stamps may be obtained from the Elmont Stamp Co.

Because the wedding set has evoked a lively interest in stamps of Monaco, Elmont's Paris Office has prepared a collection containing the complete GRACE KELLY postage set of five stamps, the large-sized diamond Olympic set of six, and the recent Monacan set of four honoring Presidents Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Eisenhower; a total of 15 mint stamps for just $1.00 to introduce Elmont's approval service. Human Guinea Pigs Aid Anti-Flu Vaccine Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Human volunteers are helping to test experimental vaccines designed to combat Asiatic flu—and another week or so may reveal whether one can be standardized for practical use.

A spokesman for the U.S. public health service said today that manufacturers have submitted samples of proposed vaccines to the service's communicable disease centre at Montgomery, Ala. "Potency" tests are under way there.

The spokesman cautioned, however, that even if one or more of the vaccines passes the tests, it will not be possible to produce them in unlimited quantities by fall when influenza usually is prevalent.

He said a few "relatively localized outbreaks" of the disease—which has reached epidemic form in Asian nations—already have occurred in the United States. Other outbreaks of influenza-like diseases are suspected of being the Asiatic type, though not yet confirmed as such.

The malady is a relatively mild one in that it seldom produces complications, but patients have high fevers and "ache all over."

Log Birlers, Marathoners Top Sooke Fete

By GRACE HORGAN
Times Sooke Correspondent

SOOKE — Canada's first world championship log birling contest, the first marathon foot race on Vancouver Island, and famous loggers' sports and barbecued salmon will be highlights of the three-day All-Sooke celebration Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Top log birlers from the United States and Canada will compete in the 33rd renewal of the world championship, sponsored by the National Rolo Association. They will seek major honors won in 1956 by Jubiel Wickheim of Sooke, champion in the men's division, and Virginia Hansen of Toutle, Wash., three-time champion in the women's division.

Brother, Sister Combinations

The 1957 rivalries will be spiced by brother combinations in the men's division and sister combinations in the women's division. Jubiel Wickheim succeeded his brother Ardiel to the title at Rockford, last year; and James Herron of Longview, Wash., won titles in 1938, 1941 and 1954, and his brother Eddie of Kelso, Wash., was the winner in 1947.

The Hansen sisters of Washington have dominated the women's division for four years—Virginia winning the title in 1953, losing it to her sister Charlotte in 1954, then winning it again in 1955 and 1956. They will face two teenage sisters who will travel across Canada from Nova Scotia, Elizabeth and Janet Wamboldt. Janet, 17, is a high school student and Elizabeth, 19, is studying for her bachelor of science degree at Acadia University.

Competition will be in four divisions — men's, women's, oldtimers', and trick and fancy — with trophies and a share in the $3,000 as the rewards. Best two falls out of three will decide each match, with the roleo conducted on an elimination basis.

Four birling logs, lathe-turned, will be used. They are 13 feet in length and diameters are 20, 17, 15 to 14 inches. The smaller the log, the faster the action.

Started in Nebraska in 1898

The first roleo was held in Omaha, Nebraska, in 1898.

Butler Bros. of Victoria and Sooke are sponsoring the marathon race, and providing trophies for first, second and third places, with Ernie Massick of Victoria as organizer and competitor. There will be additional prizes for all contestants completing the course.

Olympic star Cliff Salmond is among the runners and Alf Holmwood, a former marathon racer from Great Britain also will start.

Other contestants are Jim Moore, Mike Chambers and Jim Pickup, high school students in Victoria, and Chuck Spittal, George Peterson, Dennis Parsons and Gordon Hartley. Mr. Massick believes the race should take about three and a half hours. It is the big event in the first day of the three-day celebration and will share the spotlight with the preliminary roleo competitions.

"Trick and fancy" and "old timers" roleo events will be held on July 12 with the finals on All Sooke Day, July 13.

Refreshments will be available on the River Flats each evening.

Saturday will see log birling finals, women's and men's tug of war, foot races, and the serving of barbecued salmon.

Contract Awarded For Fair Building

NANAIMO — A firm start has been made on the Nanaimo centennial project with the letting of a contract to Norval Wheatcroft and Son for construction of a $28,000 building at Exhibition Park.

It is hoped to have the building finished in time for the annual fall fair Sept. 12. It will have room for 12 display booths, and will be suitable for dancing, sports, or public meetings.

Already 40,000 feet of lumber have been delivered to the site. The building, 200 by 60 feet, will be of bowstring truss design, leaving the floor area free of supporting posts.

Action on the project came less than a week after the city council gave its approval.

Construction of an exhibition building was decided upon when the local centennial committee decided that other suggestions were "unrealistic."

They included a swimming pool and public library building. Both proposals were abandoned when plans for financing failed to materialize.

Civil Servants Cheer Leaders on Strike Move

By PETER MURRAY

A meeting of 1,600 Victoria members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association gave almost unanimous backing Monday night to an executive call for strike action.

It was a solid show of strength tempered only by a willingness to negotiate and hope that the walkout set for 7 a.m. Friday will not take place.

The meeting, which packed every corner of the Club Sirocco, heard promises of support, both moral and financial, from organized labor.

Main speaker was Alfred Bennett, assistant general secretary of the association, who said the civil servants had been "forced" into setting a strike date by the attitude of the government.

Healthy Applause

The members agreed, by cheers and applause, that they were behind the executive decision to settle "for nothing less than a collective bargaining agreement."

Leslie Wismer, director of affairs for the Canadian Labor Congress said government-civil service relations in B.C. were the worst of any province in Canada.

Only one man got up at the meeting and spoke against the decision to strike.

He complained that he was being "intimidated" on both sides.

Dave Huggins, president of the Victoria branch, replied that the association was making no threats against members who intend crossing the picket line, but.

"Frankly, that person will have to live with himself for the rest of his life."

A woman member told the meeting her boss in the department of finance had warned employees he would fire them if they are on the picket lines Friday morning.

Through Pickets

"He said that if we wanted to work we should report to him Friday morning and he would get us through any picket line," the member said.

Another member asked if the ethics of professional persons barred them from striking.

Mr. Bennett replied that the Canadian Association of Social Workers had written supporting the executive stand.

"They said they didn't believe their ethics are such they have to starve to death to preserve them," Mr. Bennett said.

Mr. Bennett claimed that professional engineers in the civil service who refused to strike were using ethics "as a cloak to hide behind."

Total membership of the Victoria branch is 2,500.

Most popular figure at the meeting was Mr. Bennett, who

STYLISH HQ FOR STRIKE

Victoria civil servants will have a stylish strike headquarters if the strike goes ahead Friday morning as scheduled.

Dave Huggins, president of the local branch of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, told the general meeting in the Club Sirocco Monday night that a sample room in the Empress Hotel has been booked.

"It's not the dignity, just the proximity," Mr. Huggins said.

has been leading the present negotiations in the absence of general secretary E. P. O'Connor.

Mr. Bennett was given a rousing cheer when he entered the hall and was frequently applauded during his remarks.

He told the audience the attitude of the government toward the association had made it an "absolute necessity" that a strike be ordered.

"We must take this stand if we are to go back to our jobs with any self respect and have the will to do our work," he said.

If the association bowed to the "dictatorial" strike-and-you'll-be-fired edict of the government, the dignity of the provincial service would deteriorate.

"No man and no woman can work when their dignity is destroyed," Mr. Bennett said.

"It is not my purpose to harangue you into a strike," he said. "I would be the last person to attempt to lead you down the rocky path."

"This is a serious step to take. But it is one we must take—we are being forced into."

The government ultimatum was aimed particularly at career civil servants who have built up good-sized pensions, Mr. Bennett said.

"Obviously these people must take a look at their positions."

Labor Support

"To them we can only say that the weight of the association and of organized labor in British Columbia is 100 per cent behind you."

The dispute has now gone beyond the point of a quarrel over wages, Mr. Bennett said.

"It is a matter now that affects your citizenship—the right to do things we always thought we could do without fear of intimidation."

Mr. Wismer, a vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, has been advising the executive in its latest steps.

"I am completely amazed—I can't believe that in 1957 in glorious Canada there can be a government as stubborn as this one," he said.

"I cannot understand the premier's attitude. I didn't believe that there were such employers left."

The association has not asked the government nor the legislature to give up "one jot or tittle of its power and authority."

On Your Side

"All of the figures are on your side," he said. "The government can't make a case before an impartial arbitration board. I think that's why they don't want one."

Pledging the support of organized labor in the event of a walkout by the association, Mr. Wismer said the help and advice of experienced men would be needed.

"You don't need money. You need people who have been through this before, who know how to man picket lines and face up to the endless situations that can arise."

"When you go on strike it isn't a picnic, it isn't a holiday. When you're on the picket line, you'll feel lonely and worried."

"If you require money—we will appeal to unions throughout the province to raise money to support you."

Pledges of support were also made by William Gault, Victoria representative of the Congress, and A. W. Toone, secretary of the Victoria Labor Council.

"Workers will respect your picket lines—make no mistake about that," Mr. Gault said.

The last hour of the meeting was devoted to questions from the floor. Some of the answers:

Individual branches will decide what services are essential and should be maintained, but these decisions must be cleared

Official Permit

Any member of a voluntary work party will be issued an official permit to allow him through the picket lines.

If there is no settlement in sight, the association will place advertisements in newspapers before Friday "telling the story."

UN Police Force Move Wins Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Mike Mansfield, Dem.-Mont., claimed overwhelming congressional support today for creation of a permanent United Nations police force "as a vital step to maintaining world peace."

He said he will ask the Senate foreign relations committee to approve today a proposal by Senator John Sparkman, Dem.-Ala., for Senate and House of Representatives backing of such a permanent UN force.

Sparkman, in a separate interview, said the UN Emergency Force now functioning in the Middle East "proved the effectiveness of an international force in areas of tension."

"I believe that such a force could be useful in other situations," he said. "An enlarged and permanent force should be set up to be at the beck and call of the UN for putting down brush fires wherever they occur."

Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader, agreed with this view, and pointed to the support of Sparkman's proposal by such Republicans as Senators Ralph Flanders of Vermont, Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin and H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey. The resolution would have the Senate and House urge that the present emergency force be made "a continuing agency of the United Nations, that it should be expanded and given special training in observation, patrol, guard duty and arms inspection, and that its arms and equipment be confined to what is required for these specific duties."

NO END TO FIREWORKS FOLLOWING SOCCER RIOT

KITMAT, B.C. (CP)—The Italia team, expelled by the Kitimat Soccer League from organized play after a night game riot last Thursday, described the expulsion decision Monday as "ridiculous."

The team condemned league officials as "dictators" and alleged favoritism towards the Kitimat-Blue Adriatic Club.

The match between Italia and Pacific Steel was abandoned Thursday night when a fist fight broke out among players and the crowd swarmed onto the pitch. An Italian, Antonio Sanso, was sentenced to 10 days imprisonment Friday for attacking referee Martin Kafer.

Should Be Life In Young Battery

When Burnaby Athletics move into Royal Athletic Park against Farmer Construction tonight, they may be facing the youngest battery in the Northwest International Semi-Pro Baseball League.

Currently holding down second place in the northern division of the league, Athletics will be getting their first look at 16-year-old Dave Emery, who will be going after his second successive victory.

Sensation of Victoria's Babe Ruth League last year, Emery made an impressive debut with the league-leading Farmer squad, spinning a neat five-hitter as the Victorians whipped third-place Vancouver Young Liberals 10-3, in the opening game of a Dominion Day doubleheader.

ROOKIE CATCHER.

And manager Ed Ash has indicated that Emery may be pitching to Jim Moody, 18, another newcomer to the Farmer staff. Moody, who has been catching with Victoria Orphans in the Mid-Island loop, made his first appearance with Ash's crew last Saturday when he took over behind the plate from ex-pro Jim Harford in the second game of a twin-bill with Seattle Markets.

Harford, bothered with an aching throwing arm after working in all of Farmers' first 21 games, may be given another night's rest if the arm still gives trouble in tonight's pre-game workout and it could be an all-rookie battery going for the Victoria club.

Otherwise, Ash plans to go with the same lineup that swept Saturday's twin bill and has carried Farmers to the top of their division with 14 victories in 22 games.

In league news over the weekend, president Joe Martin announced that Harwood Roofers of Vancouver had been withdrawn from the league because of their inability to field a contending team.

STANDINGS CHANGE

Withdrawal of the Roofers, who had won only one of 11 games, wiped out all games they had played and resulted in a shuffling of league standings that moved Burnaby into the second slot.

Although it is possible that the Vancouver Island Umpires' Association will stick with its announcement that no Victoria umpires will officiate at games involving Farmer Construction, the Victoria club has been assured that officials will be on hand for tonight's encounter.

If Victoria Umpires do not work the game, two Vancouver umpires will take over.

Game time tonight is 8 o'clock.

No Use Tellin' Abner About This One

Abner Doubleday can rest quietly today. The peace that is his can be assured with the knowledge that the All-Stars in St. Louis played his game as it should be played.

It would be unfair, then, to tell him about the week's "other" baseball classic. Tell your friends, but don't tell Abner about Friday's "Biezboll" game in Royal Athletic Park.

The men who make up Victoria's sportswriting and sportscasting fraternity are crashing the act. Banding together with the city's leading professional hockey players, the Press-Radio All-Stars will meet Victoria Farmers in a game, starting at 8 p.m., that is hoped to resemble baseball.

The move of the press and radio types is not exactly inexplicable. It is, in fact, simple to explain. They're hoping to do a bit to help boost the campaign to keep Victoria in the Western Hockey League.

They are eager now, but they may be sorry later. Most are still convinced they can log the 90 feet to first base in less than 10 seconds. And if that isn't speed for you, just compare that to Mickey Mantle's 3.1 effort!

Farmers plan to stick along with their regulars who perform in the Northwest International Baseball League. The

TIMBERMEN HERE WEDNESDAY

Whitey Supplies Own Playoff Insurance

Whitey Severson doesn't believe in doing things by halves—or by two-thirds.

Accordingly, Severson will be back in harness when Victoria Shamrocks tackle Nanaimo Timbermen for the Inter-City Lacrosse League lead at Memorial Arena Wednesday night.

The Shamrock coach will actually be making his third playing appearance of the season. He filled in during two games at New Westminster, once when the Rocks were shorthanded and again last week when Bert Bertola suffered a recurrence of an old ankle injury.

Since playing three games makes a player eligible for playoff duty, Severson is filling the utility role in the injury-weakened Shamrock lineup to give the Irish extra playoff insurance, although hoping he will be able to continue his coaching from the bench.

Joining Bertola on the sidelines last Thursday was veteran Bob Bremner, who was making his debut with the Rocks and first Inter-City League appearance in two seasons. Bremner, who picked up a shoulder injury, will be out for about 10 days while Severson will rest Bertola for two weeks to ensure that the husky forward is sound when playoff time rolls around.

Wednesday's game and the return bout at Nanaimo Saturday night may go a long way towards deciding which club will finish in the top spot and earn a bye in the first-team playoffs. Rocks and Tim-bermen are currently deadlocked for first place with 10 games left on the schedule for each club.

Severson will have rugged Tommy Druce back in action for the crucial series, operating with Lew Landess on one of the defence pairings in front of goalie Gordie Johnston. Jack Howse and Bill Bamford will remain together as the other rearguard duo.

He plans no changes in the top forward line of Jack Blonda, Peeewe Bradshaw and Bob Dobbie or the potent second unit of Ed Kowalyk, Don Sherry and Alan Gill.

Working together on the shuffled third line will be Art Green, Jack Northup and Al Davies.

Nanaimo's Canadian champions, rolling along in their best form of the season after being hampered by injuries in the early part of the campaign, promise to be a tough handful.

Derry Davies, Arnie Dugan and Joe White are picking up steam after recovering from knee injuries, veteran Don Ashbee has been scoring goals at his old clip, and rookie Mike Good has been coming up with important goals.

Only coach Harry Wipper, who tried unsuccessfully to come back in two games against the Rocks after undergoing a knee operation, will be missing from the Nanaimo regulars.

Game time Wednesday is 8:30 p.m.

Things Not Right, Or So Casey Says!

Stengel Tees Off on Fans, And Rival Field Bosses

By JOE REICHLER

ST. LOUIS—Casey Stengel continued to voice his displeasure over the fans all-star vote, as well as tactics used by rival American League managers, as Jim Bunning, his "second choice" starter, prepared to face Philadelphia's Curt Simmons today in the silver anniversary of the annual all-star game.

The manager of the New York Yankees, in disagreement with the fans over several of their all-star selections, and indignant because Cleveland used pitcher Early Wynn, his originally intended starter, last Sunday, promised some changes next year.

"I dare say," Stengel said, "things will be changed around here after this year, in regards to the way certain things are chosen. They just don't look right the way it's being done."

Stengel disclosed he will propose a rule prohibiting managers from starting pitchers who have been named to the all-star team any later than Saturday prior to the big game. That would assure at least two days' rest.

"I had planned to start Wynn," he said, "because of his experience and his knowledge of the National League players but when I learned he pitched Sunday I switched to Bunning because he, too, is a right-hander and is the most rested."

Casey quickly added: "I don't want to criticize my starting pitcher. After all, he owns one of the best records and has beaten every club in the league, including us two or three times."

Stengel's criticism of Cleveland's use of Wynn Sunday drew a sharp reply from Kerby Farrer, rookie manager of the Indians.

'If That's What Casey Wants...'

"I'm a hell of a lot more interested in beating the Chicago White Sox in a doubleheader than winning the all-star game," he said. "However, if Casey gets his rule passed, I'll go along. What's good for one club is good for the other."

Brooklyn manager Walter Alston, who will direct the National League's, said he sympathized with Stengel's attitude, but added he didn't see how the pilots could be asked to sacrifice using a star pitcher in a close pennant race.

Stengel, who is sensitive about his all-star managerial record (he's lost five of six games), was not particularly happy over the selections of Detroit's Harvey Kuenn at shortstop, Cleveland's Vic Wertz at first base and Baltimore's George Kell at third base.

Alston also played the percentage by naming Simmons, the veteran lefthander who has an 84 record. The American League batting order is strong with southpaw with five of the starters batting from the left side. That includes the switch-hitting Mickey Mantle.

SMITH, GODDARD STAR

Indies Almost Sure Of Salvaging Draw

A stubborn seventh-wicket stand between Colie Smith and Goddard today has all but assured West Indies of a draw with England in the third test match being played at Nottingham.

After Denis Atkinson was caught at the wicket for 46 runs this morning, Goddard and Smith defied England's bowling until Goddard was caught at the wicket after scoring 66 runs. After Smith was bowled for 158, the West Indies score stood at 352 for seven wickets, giving the visitors a lead of more than 100 runs.

England declared at 619 for six in its first innings while West Indies followed on Monday after running up 372 runs in the first innings.

STELLARTON, N.S.—Paula Melis, 155, Montreal, captured Gary Simon, 187 1/2, New Glasgow, (10).

'BIEZBOLL' ON FRIDAY

Tang will handle coaching duties at first base. Another pitcher and a team manager are to be named later.

The selection of a manager is already causing dissension among the press-radio gang. The radio voices want the best, they say, and are holding out for Gina Lollobrigida. The newspapermen feel Sabrina would do a better job.

Campaign president Dr. Andy Reid has assigned doctors Gordon Gray, Reg Wride, Jack Patterson and Lloyd Bassett, all members of the board of governors, to administer to the All-Star needs. Blood, said Dr. Reid, will be donated by the Red Cross.

Regardless of what happens on the scoreboard, the big winners will be the fans who turn out Friday, and the hockey campaign. All proceeds will be turned into hockey club shares (each one valued at $25) and turned back to lucky fans in the way of door prizes.

Admission prices are $1 for adults and 25 cents for children.

Those who don't expect to win a share at Friday's game or in the golf tournament, scheduled for July 21, may subscribe for shares by using the application blank printed on the next page.

When the campaign realizes the amount needed to form a club, shares will be issued. If the drive is unsuccessful, all monies will be returned to applicants.

BATTLE FOR FIRST PLACE

Spring Boosts Seals

BY THE UNITED PRESS

Maybe all pitchers should strain a muscle, then come back into action after a two-week layoff.

Look what happened to Jack Spring. He pulled a groin muscle 15 days ago and returned last night to allow Portland a scant three hits while leading San Francisco to a 2-1 lead over the Beavers.

The win also gave the Seals a rare seven-game shutout during the series which was completed with Spring's game. In the only other game played Monday, Sacramento dumped Seattle, 4-3, taking that series four games to three. Los Angeles at Vancouver was rained out.

GAME-WINNER

Frank Kellert, first base power hitter for the league-leading San Francisco squad, came through with a game-winning single in the eighth that scored Tom Umphlett. The only tally made by Portland came in the first frame on an unearned run.

In Sacramento, Al Heist was the big man of the night as he slammed out a two-run double in the eighth that broke a 2-2 tie and won the game against Seattle.

Seattle went ahead with runs in the first and second by Morris Wills and Ed Basinski, but Jim Greengrass aroused the Solons in the bottom of the third with a bases-empty homer and Artie Wilson tied it up in the next frame, coming in off a single by Nippy Jones.

Jones, sold to Milwaukee, played his last game for the Solons.

The putter is Len Hiberson's pet. You can't blame Len, who makes a living by selling pets, for singling out the putter. The 43-year-old Uplands Golf Club member turned in a remarkable display on the greens Sunday, taking only 21 putts to tour the course.

Homebrews Serve Notice In Warmup

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Two top Canadian golfers who developed on Kitchener courses, fired under-par rounds Monday as the continent's finest pros and amateurs warmed up for Wednesday's first round of the Canadian Open championships. Last year's Canadian amateur champ, Moe Norman, toured the Westmount course here with a three-under-par 68. The open will be only his second tournament since turning professional last winter.

Gary Cowan, the Canadian junior champ and considered one of the country's most promising amateurs, checked in with a one-under-par 70. The starting field has been limited to 160, with Royal Canadian Golf Association officials refusing 40 applications. Doug Sanders of Miami, the defending champion, will be among the competitors. So will Dow Finsterwald, the pro he defeated last year for the Gold Cup. Sanders was an amateur then. He won the trophy but Finsterwald took first-place prize money.

Dick Meyer, the U.S. Open champion, Paul Harney, winner of last week's open in Montreal, George Bayer, second to Harney in Montreal and Doug Ford, the leading money winner on the PGA circuit, will be among the starters.

The gold cup and $25,000 in cash will be at stake, representing an increase of $10,000 from recent open tournaments.

Par Elusive In PNW Golf

SPOKANE (AP)—Par was an elusive target Monday as a huge field started a week-long chase for the Pacific Northwest Golf Association's amateur crown at the Spokane country club layout, a par 36-36-72 course.

Leading the field at the half-way point of the 36-hole qualifying round were Jim Mallory and John Lynch, both of Spokane. They came in with 18-hole cards of 72.

One stroke behind was Erv Parent of Seattle, the heavy favorite to take the title vacated by Bob Kidd, Vancouver, B.C. The field was scheduled for another 18 holes of qualifying play today, with match play due to start Wednesday.

Alcos Down Oak Bay By 7 Wickets

In Victoria and District Cricket Association action Sunday, at Windsor Park, Alcos downed Oak Bay by seven wickets and eight runs on the standard performances of two of its bowlers.

Ron Monk allowed 17 runs for two wickets, and Charles Robinson went 13 for five with each batting up 18 runs, not out, to gain a winning margin over Oak Bay who were all out with only 38 runs scored.

Top batsman for the Oak Bay side was D. Warren, who gathered 13 before being caught out by L. Rowell.

Saturday Incogs lost by five wickets to Five C's at the University School pitch.

Britain Picks Ryder Team

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UP)—The British Professional Golfers Association named nine of the 10 men who'll face the U.S. Ryder Cup team at Lindrick in October, with veteran Dai Rees of Wales listed as probable playing captain.

The 10th place on the team will go to the winner of the upcoming British match play championship unless the winner is one of the nine already named. In that event, Peter Mills of England takes the remaining place.

The U.S. has beaten Britain in 10 of the 12 Ryder Cup matches played so far.

Two players who lost their cup berths after the 1953 defeat at Wenworth, Eng.—Bernard Hunt and Peter Allis of England—regained their places.

The other six named in addition to Rees, partly on their showing in the British Open; were Eric Brown of Scotland, Harry Weetman, Max Faulkner and Ken Bousfield of England, Harry Bradshaw and Christy O'Connor of Ireland.

Cordova Bay on Trail Of Fourth B.C. Crown

Manager Bill Johnston's Cordova Bay North club is stepping briskly along the trail toward a fourth, successive British Columbia bantam boys' softball championship.

Johnston's charges cleared a big hurdle in their path to the provincial playdowns at Vancouver this weekend as they downed Nanaimo Kinsmen in the Island final at Nanaimo last Saturday and Sunday.

With Billy Butler pitching and Glenn Johnston handling the catching chores in both games, the Bays ousted the Kins in straight games by scores of 16-3 and 6-5.

Cordova Bay, jumping into a commanding lead with a six-run third inning was able to coast to victory in the opening tussle.

But it was a tough struggle all the way in the second game and it took some alert base running by Murray Elter and a clutch single by Allan Chipping in the sixth inning to give the Bays their winning tally.

Barbed Wire, Moat, Gas ...All Part of the Game

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mexican soccer crowds are "slightly partisan," said members of Canada's team in the World Cup tournament.

"Those hot country crowds are known to be more than slightly partisan," said coach Don Petrie when the team returned here Monday.

"You can tell by the stadium in Mexico City. Separating the crowd from the playing field is a barbed wire fence. Then there is a moat, six feet wide by four feet deep. Next are policemen, armed with billys and tear gas bombs."

Petrie called it "fantastic." There are steel doors on a tunnel through which the players enter the field.

"When they are on the field, the doors close. The doors open when the game is over and clang shut when the last player has walked in."

Canada lost two matches in Mexico, 3-0 and 2-0. CROWDS SWAY REFS

The Canadians complained of the refereeing and Petrie said: "The referee was easily swayed by the crowd."

The 14-member Canadian team, including 11 players from British Columbia, won its final game of the tournament Sunday in St. Louis, where they beat the United States team 3-2. It was a second win over the Americans and gave Canada a 2-2 record for the four-game competition.

Dave Fryatt, chairman of the B.C. Soccer commission, who accompanied the team, said much was learned from the tournament.

"We'll know better than to play our games away next time, for one thing," he said. His views were shared by Petrie who felt that had a game been played at Empire Stadium here, Canada would have won. The first game was played in Toronto when the Canadians beat the U.S. team.

Aussie Rates As Leading Fan

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Bruce Finegan today claimed the title of world champion baseball fan.

Finegan, 26, came all the way from Sydney, Australia, to see the all-star game. He played centre field, and sometimes shortstop or third base, for the Waverly Pirates, established in 1895 and the oldest baseball club in Australia.

Finegan quit his job as salesman in a department store, withdrew his savings and set out for the United States with his all-star game his objective.

Finegan, who weighs about 130 pounds, also wants to meet Ty Cobb. "I've tried to model my play on him," he said.

Williams Back With Roughies

REGINA (CP)—Stan Williams, offensive and defensive half-back with Saskatchewan Roughriders for the last four years, will be back with the Western Interprovincial Football Union club this fall, team manager Dean Griffing announced today.

Williams, 28, sat out most of last season with an injured leg but the six-foot-one Texan reports that the leg has responded to treatment in the off-season.

Two players injured in the club's first scrimmage Sunday will be on the sidelines for 10 days. They are Len Legault, 235-pound tackle from Kirkland Lake, Ont., who played the last three years at Kansas State, and Sonny Jones, 225-pound full-back who played nine games last year with the Philadelphia Eagles. Legault suffered a sprained knee ligaments while Jones has a sprained ankle.

The colt's next appearance probably will be in the Travers Stakes at Saratoga Aug. 17.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days)
C (Get out in time)

(BB) "GARMENT JUNGLE" (Odeon): Columbia's "Garment Jungle" is like something picked off the racks in the bargain basement—flashy, daring, promising but, in the broad light of day, of shoddy material.

The plot, in brief: Lee J. Cobb owns a powerful New York garment manufacturing company. He employs strong-arm man Richard Boone to keep the union out of his shop. Gradually, over the years, Boone becomes more powerful and ups the bite on Cobb. Then Cobb's partner is murdered and, through his son's (Kerwin Matthews) eyes Cobb has another look at himself and doesn't like what he sees.

Obviously "Garment Jungle" was designed for those who get their kicks from viciousness and brutality. What's more, the sermon simply doesn't hold water. There also seems to be more dillying with the dolls than is necessary for a story about the New York garment trade. For instance, dedicated union man Robert Loggia whoops it up with wife Gia Scala in a most unnecessary manner. Then, when he is knocked off by Boone's boys, Cobb's son takes up where hubby left off without letting the grass adhere to his feet. Meanwhile, Cobb, the old rogue, is playing patty-cake with model Valerie French.

TV Comments Bring Suits for $3 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The televised comments of former gambler Mickey Cohen last May 19 brought two damage suits Monday totalling $3,000,200.

Los Angeles police chief William H. Parker and Capt. James Hamilton of the police intelligence squad sued TV, interviewer Mike Wallace, of the American Broadcasting Company, the sponsors and advertising agency handling Wallace's program and 10 John Does, alleging libel, slander and defamation of character.

On the telecast Cohen denounced Parker and Hamilton. In New York, where the Wallace program emanates, the district attorney said that oral defamatory remarks ordinarily classified as slander "do not fall within the purview of the criminal libel law."

ABC tendered an apology in a later Wallace program, but lawyers for Parker and Hamilton said this was wholly inadequate to remedy the damage done.

4 "Easy-do" IDEAS

from Libby's

Mary Hale Martin

"Dad's Pantry Shelf Quickie"

Slice 1 can luncheon meat, and place over low heat in large buttered skillet. Shake on some tangy Libby's Catchup, then add 2 cans of Libby's Spaghetti. (Libby's is the kind with the cheddar cheese sauce. Practically everybody adores its special flavour.) Cover and heat gently till bubbly. If Mom makes this, she'll likely sprinkle on some chopped parsley. Nice touch!

"Never-Fail Glaze"

So easy, and so good, you'll want to use this glaze on roasted pork, on roasted whole bolognas (score, and treat just as you would a ready-cooked ham), as well as on hams—Blend 1 cup currant jelly till smooth, with 4 tablespoons Libby's Mustard (Libby's is guaranteed the best mustard you can buy. Sharp but never biting). Spread on deeply-scored meat (1/2 hour before it is done) and stud with cloves. Baste with glaze often.

"Speedy Pizza Snacks"

Open package of ready-to-bake Tea Biscuits. Flatten with palm of hand and place on baking sheet. Spread with Libby's Catchup (where flavor is so important, as in a recipe like this, be sure to use Libby's: it's made from more tomatoes for an extra-rich flavor). Sprinkle generously with grated cheese. Top with anchovies, mushrooms, or bits of salami. Lightly drizzle with salad oil, and bake in hot oven (for exact temperature and time, see Tea Biscuit package).

"Ritz Cured Beef Spaghetti"

In a 10" shallow casserole or pie plate, lightly mix 1 can Cured Beef with 2 tps. Libby's Mustard. Press mixture to sides of dish. Pour in 2 cans Libby's Spaghetti; then stir in 1/4-1/2 cup sherry (optional). Bake at 425° till bubbly hot (about 20 minutes). Mmmm! Keep this recipe—your family will want a "repeat performance".

Important—We believe Libby's Canned Vegetables are the world's finest, and we invite you to try them. If you don't agree, they're definitely superior, we shall happily refund DOUBLE your money.

LIBBY, McNEILL &
LIBBY OF CANADA, LIMITED,
CHATHAM, ONTARIO

Glamorous way to entertain in comfort—easy-going soft silk shirt over sleek leopard print slacks.

Here's terrific flavor... truly mouthwatering and distinctively Libby's because Libby's and only Libby's makes deep-browned beans

High in proteins—shy in calories—Libby's deep-browned beans bring melting-good nourishment to the modern dinner table. Deep-Browning coaxes sauce into the very hearts of these tender beans—sauce with mouthwatering freshness that comes from our secret recipe that uses lots of delicious Libby's Tomato Juice.

These two advantages are exclusive to Libby's. They explain why our familiar Deep-Browned Beans have remained unmatched, still Canada's most popular baked beans by far. How long since you had a good feed of Libby's Deep-Browned Beans? You can get Deep-Browned Beans 2 ways: with Pork or Vegetarian Style. Made only by Libby's. How about tomorrow?

12-Hour Battle Saves Fish Boat

(From CP Dispatches)

NAMU — A fisherman who fought for 12 hours against a heavy sea told Monday night how he saved his life and his ship.

Bill Garriock rescue co-ordinator at Namu, 250 miles northwest of Vancouver, used a radio beam to guide Capt. Tormod A. Ostby, 39, of the trawler Carol O into the harbor. Ostby, who was uninjured, said the biggest wave he had ever seen crashed through his wheelhouse and threatened to sink the vessel.

Ostby, fishing alone Sunday night, turned into the wind to ride out a sudden storm. A monster wave left a gap a foot wide down one side of the vessel.

"I plugged the hole with pillows, blankets and anything I could find," he said.

300-FOOT DEATH PLUNGE

HANEY—The body of a hiker, Eric Kastelema, 25, of Vancouver, who fell 300 feet to his death in Garibaldi Park was "a terrible ordeal" for a seven-man search party.

He had taken his wife and daughter on a weekend camping trip to the rugged Gold Creek area north of Haney. With him were Raimo Heino, a family friend, and Heino's family.

To get the body out, the party broke up into three sections, roping the body down three waterfalls and treacherous rock faces. It took nearly four hours for the party to reach the nearest road.

An inquest was scheduled today.

CAR PLUNGE KILLS 2

WILLIAMS LAKE — Two men were killed when their car ran off the highway near here during the weekend.

Edward George Slocumbe, 38, of Vancouver, and Maurice Collins, 43, of Burnaby, died 16 miles south of Williams Lake on Highway 97 when Slocumbe's car swerved off the road for 40 feet, then plunged 25 feet to the far bank of a ditch.

ESCAPES SENTENCED

VANCOUVER — Two convicts who escaped from Oakalla prison farm in suburban Burnaby Friday were sentenced Monday to two years in the B.C. penitentiary. They were Alex Picton, 26, and Paul Phillips, 19. They were both serving sentences of two years less a day when they escaped from a working party.

SEARCH FOR BODY

KITIMAT—RCMP are conducting an extensive search for the body of a man presumed to have drowned when a delivery truck plunged into the Kitimat River.

The victim was identified as 40-year-old Fernand Rossignol. Another man in the truck, 40-year-old Ernest Meade, escaped from the submerged vehicle.

DOG OWNERS PROTEST

VANCOUVER — Irrate dog owners are planning a protest-march with their pets through city streets.

They say dogs can't even live a dog's life under a new by-law banning them from city beaches whether they are on a leash or not.

Stanley A. Trent, acting-president of the society of dog owners and friends, says the new law "is one of the most outrageous I've ever heard of."

DIES OF INJURIES

GRAND FORKS — William Popoff, 48, of Summerland, died in hospital here Monday.

Popoff suffered head injuries when a car driven by his brother, Nick W. Popoff of Grand Forks, overturned during the weekend near Spence Hill.

STRIKE VOTE AVERTED

SURREY — Municipal council here averted a strike vote Monday when it settled contract differences with the 300-member Surrey municipal employees union. The employees' bargaining committee accepted recommendations of a personnel report on employee grading plus a $5-a-month increase for inside employees and an 18-cent-an-hour increase for outside employees.

BIGGEST CITY, TOKYO CLAIM

TOKYO (Reuters) — Tokyo metropolitan authorities today claimed the title of the "world's largest city" following publication of the capital's latest population census.

Metropolitan government spokesmen said Tokyo's population as of June 1 totalled 8,471,637.

The spokesmen said the metropolitan government's latest information on the population of New York and London showed that the former had a registered population of 8,115,000 and the latter 8,346,145.

CANADIAN TOBACCO

Main tobacco-growing areas in Canada are in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia.

20,000 Flee Blasts, Buenos Aires Rocked

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — A crowd of 20,000 persons fled from the vicinity of government house here Monday night when two explosions occurred a few minutes after President Aramburu and the president of the Uruguayan governing council, Arturo Lezama, had addressed a demonstration.

Only one person was reported injured by the explosions, the latest in a series of seven which have taken place here in the last 24 hours.

A police officer said the bombs were of a type designed to cause alarm rather than casualties.

The crowd were taking part in a demonstration on the eve of Argentine's national day.

MONTE ROBERTS

I see where genial George Warren, our pulsating publicity commissioner, is receiving lots and lots of mail. This mail comes from far and also wide, and it is largely devoted to investigating the feasibility of spending a holiday in Victoria.

Naturally, George is answering said mail, and pointing out that it is indeed feasible to spend a holiday in Victoria. And, in George's opinion, if you chance to spend a few bucks as well as your holiday here, this is all well and good. The idea of spending a holiday in Victoria is an excellent one. But I don't think the holidaying in Victoria should be confined to people from far and wide.

Holidaying in Victoria should be permitted for Victoria people, too.

The way things are now, people from Victoria are apt to go far and wide for their holidays, while people from far and wide come here for their holidays.

This distresses my sense of the efficient. There seems to be unnecessary waste effort here, with people hurrying about to and from far and wide.

I believe there is a simple solution—which brings us back to the letters received by Genial George Warren.

When genial George receives a letter from say, Las Vegas, asking about the possibility of holidaying here, he should get in touch with a Victoria resident who is considering the possibility of holidaying in Las Vegas.

The Victoria resident should then write to the Las Vegas resident, offering to enjoy a holiday here in Victoria on behalf of the Las Vegas resident, in return for which the Las Vegas resident would enjoy a holiday in Las Vegas on behalf of the Victoria resident.

In that way, Victorians could enjoy a vacation in some far distant place every year without leaving home, and people who live in far distant places could enjoy Victoria holidays at little or no expense.

I will admit this plan might be a little hard on the transportation companies, but then, the transportation companies are forever complaining they lose money providing transportation.

I am about to write to a friend in Toronto, offering to spend a holiday for him in Victoria.

I can think of no greater favor I could do for a friend in Toronto at this time of year.

EILEEN DI TULLIO

SYMPHONY GUEST

'Blues Record' Started Singer On Way to Fame

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A jazz record by an American blues singer launched Eileen Di Tullio on a classical singing career which probably will take her to the famed Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

Meanwhile, the graceful young coloratura soprano will entertain Victoria music lovers as soloist in the first of the summer symphony concerts to be given by Hans Gruber and Victoria Symphony Orchestra in Butchart Gardens on Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

GOOD CHANCE

Dark-haired Miss Di Tullio was one of five operatic singers chosen recently from among 250 competitors in the Metropolitan auditions of the air, and this gives her a good chance of a debut in Metropolitan opera.

Yet it was the Blues that originally got her.

She was only eight years old when the sombre rhythms of a colored blues singer on her father's phonograph captivated her interest.

"I forget his name but I used to sing with his record every day," Miss Di Tullio recounted in an interview at the Empress Hotel. "And I told everyone I was going to grow up to be a blues singer."

The turning point came four years later, when 12-year-old Eileen heard a record of Caruso, the great Italian tenor, singing "Una Furtiva Lativa" by Verdi.

"I played this poor old record till it was nearly worn out," she said. "I sang with Caruso and delighted in sharing the high C with him. I did this so often I felt I was singing with a teacher—an old friend—yet he had been dead many years then."

At 18 Miss Di Tullio started training in earnest and her father—an actor named Joseph Caprano—sent her to the Academy of Vocal Arts in Philadelphia.

Her first break came two years later when she became the singing voice, backstage, of Helen Hayes in a comedy called "Happy Birthday."

Since then Miss Di Tullio has made numerous concert appearances in the eastern United States and she hopes to make a tour of Europe next fall. This would take her to Italy, her parent's birthplace and the home of grand opera.

Victoria Lawn Tennis Club will hold a stag and stagette cocktail party and dance in the Amphion Street clubhouse next Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Strike Action Favored By Piledrivers

Meetings in Victoria Friday and in Nanaimo within the next few days will decide the course of action to be taken by 160 Vancouver Island piledrivers, the majority of whom voted in favor of strike action in a union strike vote compiled here today.

Companies involved are Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd., Victoria Pile Driving Co. Ltd., and B.C. Pile Drivers Ltd.

The strike vote followed rejection of a conciliation board award by the three firms.

The companies objected to recommendations providing for pay during travelling time to and from work, except for 15 minutes of the employees' own time, each way.

The board award also called for a 16-cent hourly wage boost retroactive to April 1 and a further seven cents Oct. 1, raising the hourly rate to $2.57. This was earlier accepted by the union, Pile Drivers, Bridge, Dock and Wharf Builders' International Union, local 2415.

The union now has reverted to its original demands for a raise to $3.25 an hour.

Youth Fined $100 For Obstructing Police Officer

John Albert Harrison, Victoria, was fined $100 or 30 days when he appeared in city police court today convicted of obstructing a police officer last Saturday night on Yates Street.

Man Found Guilty Of Possessing Stolen Car Rugs

George Lee, 759 Queens, was found guilty in city police court today of possessing stolen property taken from a tourist's car June 20, and remanded to next Monday for sentence.

Previously sentenced for the theft, Cyril Morgan, 429 Belleville, told the court Lee had been with him for about 12 hours the night the auto was entered near a downtown hotel.

He said Lee stayed in Lee's car, parked about 150 yards away, while the entry was made and two car rugs taken from an American car.

Morgan said he took them back to Lee's car and put them inside, then they drove away.

About two hours later, he said, he told Lee he had no use for the rugs and that Lee could have them if he wanted them. The rugs were left in the car when Morgan went home.

Morgan said both had been drinking.

"He knew they were stolen, I know that," Morgan said.

Home-to-Home Survey Planned By Civil Defence

'Do You Know What To Do in Attack?'

House-to-house check of Greater Victoria householders to see how well they understand their role in the event of an atomic attack will be carried out by Civil Defence headquarters this month.

The project is likely to take "quite a few months" to complete and will require about 200 canvassers, CD co-ordinator Roger Peachey said today.

Some calls have been made in the Hillside-Cook Street area.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Calls will begin in earnest "as soon as we have enough volunteers," Mr. Peachey said.

Civil defence "disaster" pamphlets, listing protective measures in case of attack and evacuation routes from the city, were sent out to householders last fall.

"We want to make sure they read and understand them," Mr. Peachey said.

Householders who have lost their pamphlets will receive more from the canvassers.

Rites Wednesday For Founder Of Welding Firm

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 3:15 at Sands for Herbert Christopher Rogers, 50, founder of the firm of Rogers Welding Supplies Ltd., who died suddenly Sunday at his home, 5450 Alderley Road.

Born in England, he was taken to Hamilton, Ont., as a child, and had his own welding contracting business there until 1945, when he made his home in Victoria.

He spent a year in California, then returned to Victoria to start his own welding supply firm.

He was a member of Victoria Rotary Club, Columbia Royal Arch Chapter, and Henderson Lodge No. 84, AF & AM, under whose auspices the funeral will be held. Mr. Rogers also was a former boxer and member of the Hamilton Boxing Club, and helped to launch the non-denominational church at Elk Lake.

Lighthouseman Funeral Set For Wednesday

Henry Cumner Watts, 96, for 32 years a lighthouse engineer on Discovery Island, died Saturday at Mountain View Home after more than 60 years of residence on the Pacific Coast.

Born in London, England, he trained as a steam engineer, and came to Manitoba with his family in 1882. In 1896 he came to Victoria, where he worked as an engineer on tugboats, and for a time was organizer at St. Mark's Church, Boleskine Road.

In 1901 he went to Discovery Island to run the steam plant that gave power for the light and fog signal, and stayed until 1933, when he retired at the age of 72.

Funeral will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at Chaplin's, and interment will take place at Ross Bay Cemetery.

$200 PRIZE WEDNESDAY

Mystery Woman Takes Size 12

Reward for catching the Six-Day Shopping Week Mystery Woman Wednesday afternoon jumps to $200 this week.

The prize goes up because no one found the mystery shopper last week in the campaign sponsored by merchants who are now open Wednesday afternoon.

If she escapes again, the prize will increase $100 each week to a total jackpot of $500 on July 31. If she is caught, it reverts to $100 the following week.

The mystery woman wears a size 12 dress and size six shoes. To win the prize, an adult shopper must ask her, "Are you the Six-Day Shopping Week Mystery Woman?" The precise wording is necessary.

The mystery woman will be either on the street or in a store or cafe in the area bounded by Quadra, Wharf, Herald and Humboldt.

Many city stores, including leading department stores, have taken advantage of regulations contained in the new Municipal Act and are open Wednesday afternoons and Friday evenings for July and August.

Men's wear and shoe store groups have reaffirmed their policy to observe either full-day or half-day closing on Wednesday and do not open on Friday nights.

Driver Knifed, Robbed by Trio

PROF. C. L. LAMBERTSON, ... son of a lamb herder.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

You Just Name It He'll Explain It

By DINAH KERR

Wonder if the six Farquhars in the phone book know that their name means "very dear one?"

Or if the 32 Websters realize they took their name from a female ancestor—a weaver by trade?

And are the four O'Donnells aware that they were originally sons of the "world might," which was pretty mighty even back in the days of AD?

Prof. C. L. Lamberton (a lamb herder's son) knows. A summer session lecturer here from King's College, Halifax, he'll speak on "Family Names and Their Origins" at Victoria College Thursday at 12:15 p.m.

Heavy Disguise

"All names come from one of four places," Prof. Lamberton said, "but sometimes under pretty heavy disguise." For instance "Webb" can be traced back to a male weaver, and by adding the feminine "ster" you get to the women. The same thing goes for Baker and "Baxter," a female baker.

"Donnell" means "world might" and the preceding "O" stood for "son of" when Ireland wasn't much more than a mud sod.

Christian names form one division of the history of surnames—such as "Nels" whose son was known as "Nelson."—likewise "John"

and "Johnson," and "Erik" and "Erickson."

Place names form another division—and that's where we get Fields, Underhill, and Slade (an opening in the woods, a glade). Victoria's four Seales and one Seal probably derived their name from a recluse. At least their names originated with the French "la salle," meaning "room."

Then there are "occupational" names, such as Turner (a carpenter), Taylor, Smith, Wright and Cooper.

And, finally, the nicknames which were pretty descriptive in old, old England. They've led to the surnames of Noble, which is self-evident, and -Power, which isn't.

The three Power and three Powers families here will be dismayed to note that the names came from the French "pauvre," meaning "poor."

But there's good news for the Bunns, Bunes and Bones, Prof. Lamberton said.

Good Indeed

Their names derive from the French "bon" which is good indeed.

The Jollifs took their name from "joli" French for "pretty" and the Fairfaxs (literally "blonde hair") from their fair-haired forbears.

"Ap" in Welsh means "son of" and the Ap Richards have become "Pritchards" and the Ap Hopkins, "Popkins."

Tongue Lazy

"The human tongue is always looking for an easy way of doing things," Prof. Lamberton explained. Furthermore, there's no need for the city's Bishops, Kings, Lords, Priests and Priors to preen.

Their ancestors didn't hold these positions—they were servants of the men, but everyone was just too lazy to say "Bishop's man" and "Lord's man," like they should have.

For Taxation

Origin of family names can be traced back to Middle England circa 1,100 AD., Prof. Lamberton said.

"They were set when villages began to grow up, mainly for purposes of taxation," he said.

"So that John who lived by the mill became John Mill, and Richard down by the brook became Richard Brookes."

So you see—taxation has an even more fundamental part in your life than you believed.

Car Stolen As 'Friend' Given Lift

A 37-year-old Esquimalt man was beaten and robbed of his car and $146 early today on Harbor Road.

Donald William Carson, 613 Grenville, was admitted and treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for abrasions and what appeared to be a knife wound on his right cheek.

Police are hunting three young men Carson said he picked up downtown and drove to department of transport wharf on the inner harbor.

ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

Carson's car, a 1957 two-door sedan, was found at 7:25 a.m. by Esquimalt police, abandoned on Lampson Street School grounds.

It was held for possible fingerprints in city police garage. Carson was released from hospital about mid-morning.

Joseph Smith, 3538 Holland, a night watchman at the department of transport wharf on Harbor Road, called police at 1:40 a.m. to request an ambulance.

BLEEDING

Police found Carson sitting in the night watchman's office, bleeding from injuries.

He told police he had been drinking beer in a Johnson Street hotel, then drove west on Johnson where he picked up three young men, one of whom was known to him.

Carson told police the three beat him and robbed him of his wallet then drove away in his car.

The wallet was later found by police at the wharf, where there were two pools of blood about 15 feet in front of the transport department's hydrographic surveys building.

Woolworth Ltd. To Take Over Two Store Sites

Three well-known Victoria stores will move or add to their premises between now and next spring.

It is reported that F. W. Woolworth Ltd. will expand to take over adjoining stores now operated by Malleks Ltd. and F. W. Francis Ltd. But the work is not expected to get underway before early of 1958.

Malleks and Francis will take over new shops in the new Mallek block on the west side of Douglas near Fisgard.

A spokesman for Francis said the new store will be opened in August and between then and the end of this year the firm will likely operate at both addresses—the old and the new.

He said officials of the Woolworth firm had already surveyed the Douglas Street premises.

Manager of Woolworths in Victoria, E. A. Hobbs, said he could not disclose any details until a company official now overseeing an expansion plan in Prince Rupert arrives here. He did not know when the visit would take place.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Some years ago C. H. Douglas, propounder of the Social Credit theory, visited Victoria. When was that and what were the results of his missionary effort?—A. J. D.

A.—Tuesday evening, March 27, 1934, Maj. Douglas addressed an informal meeting of B.C. MLAs. He said it was the duty of parliamentary institutions to fight the gigantic monopoly governing the monetizing of the real wealth of the country.

"We know where the trouble is that causes poverty and plenty," he said. "We must tell them to make the necessary adjustments in the system." If they could not do it, Social Crediters would give them expert advice. If they then failed to do so, Social Crediters would remove their control.

As to results the reader will judge for himself. The world's first Social Credit government, the Aberhart government of Alberta, came to power in 1937.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve enigmas.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Scenes of Paris Shown In Watercolor Prints

By PENNY SAVER

Really attractive prints for a living room or bedroom wall are always hard to find, and I was pleased to find some watercolor prints by a French artist named Le Bailly. The prints are views of Paris, done in wonderfully soft pastels. My favorite was of a flower-covered quai on the Seine. In ivory frames, the prints are $4.50 each.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Acknowledge Wedding Gifts Promptly:

When is the proper time to acknowledge wedding gifts? I have been told it should be done prior to the wedding, but, if so, how about the signature? What kind of stationery should be used and how about the printed or engraved name?

Louise Davis

Answers: A bride-to-be Louise Davis should begin her thank you notes as soon as gifts are received. She mails them pronto. If she procrastinates, she will find herself bogged down as the important day approaches. She is generally so busy during these few days beforehand with last minute details that she has little time for notes. When she returns from the wedding trip, she immediately begins where she left off. The shorter the notes the better, but they can be sincere. Those written and mailed before the wedding are signed with her given name, such as Genevieve Anderson. She uses her new signature after she is married, such as Genevieve Anderson King. It is a good plan in all of the notes to include the fiancé's or bridegroom's name in the message. For example: "Paul loves your lamp as much as I do." Stationery shouldn't have any engraved or printed names. Monograms which are acceptable can sometimes be a nuisance. If the notes are written before the wedding, the initials should be those of the maiden name. The monogram of those written afterwards would of course have to include the initial of the bridegroom's last name (G. A. K.). Therefore, plain white or off-white note paper is simpler.

In the same store, my eye was caught by what I thought were large oil paintings of Japanese scenes. But when I looked at them more closely, I discovered that they are actually tapestry exquisitely done in pure silk. The embroidery gives them a three-dimensional effect.

The colors seemed a bit brilliant to me, but the scenes of mountain lakes in Japan in spring and fall were lovely. These are $14.95 each, nicely framed and under glass.

FOR SUMMER DESSERTS

Ice cream scoops, complete with lever to pop the ice cream out onto the dish, are usually quite expensive, but I've found some in chrome and stainless steel for just 89 cents.

The children would enjoy having one for making sodas, and you can use them for party desserts of ice cream or sherbet, as well as more mundane foods like mashed potatoes.

Why use up all your breath blowing up dozens of balloons for the next children's party you give?

You can buy a package of 36 balloons in an assortment of designs, complete with a pump for blowing them up. You just insert the neck of the balloon into a hole on top of the pump and press the bottom of the pump to inflate it. Balloons and pump are 89 cents.

EASY TO DO

A little girl would enjoy creating jewelry for herself and her dolls with polythene beads. No bother with needle and thread—the beads just snap together, so she can make and unmake necklaces, bracelets and pony-tail rings as often as she likes.

The beads are unbreakable, and come in white, pastel green, pink, blue and yellow at 79 cents a package. Ring me at 2-3131 if you'd like to know where I found any of these items.

Fireworks Colors Seen At First Fashion Show

NEW YORK (AP) — A red, white and blue plaid velvet dinner costume with shoes to match was the show today at Jane Derby's preview of fall fashions, on the first day of a crowded week of showings for the fashion press.

The gown climaxed a showing of opulent dresses and suits designed for a prosperous public.

Sensational is the only word for the Derby evening collection, which uses color with the abandon of a fireworks display, playing up shocker colors and brilliant metallics, along with unusual prints such as bold floral printed cloths.

SLENDER SUITS

Daytime suits and costumes here are fur-bearing, slender and easy of fit. If the suits aren't fur-trimmed they are satin-trimmed, and sometimes both fur and satin are used for a luxury touch, such as a mink-collared suit tied with a big brown satin bow.

The belted and bloused silhouette is the pet of the Nettie Rosenstein collection, in marked contrast with the loose, unfitted lines predominant in most other showings. Mrs. Rosenstein likes a neat waistline, and although she doesn't cinch it, she marks it with a belt-wide or contoured but definitely shaping the silhouette. The original advocate of the "little black dress," this designer again show many sleek and sexy black outfits, notable among which is a long, slithering black crepe dinner dress with long sleeves and low-cut back, slit in front and looking like a suitable gown for a femme fatale.

This red, white and blue plaid velvet dinner costume with shoes to match should add color to any dinner party. It's the creation of designer Jane Derby and highlights her preview of fall fashions. The pale blue bodice is strapless and shirred. (AP Wirephoto.)

WHY GROW OLD?

Beauty Salons Do Help— But It's Really Up to You

Regardless of all the valuable help a woman can get from the beauty salons, in the last analysis, her health and appearance are up to her.

Nobody else can exercise for her, nobody else can eat for her, nobody else can create her moods or control her thoughts. We have to pay the price for good looks just as we do for everything else. Fortunately, everyone has the price!

The essentials of health and beauty are free. Fresh air is free, sleep is free, laughter is free. Sunshine is free. Happy thoughts are free. Exercise is controlled by one's own voluntary muscles. Vital food is simple food and procurable by most folks.

Far too many women allow the belief that they do not have enough money to become lovely or to stay youthful lull them into inactivity and early aging. Today I want to give you exercises for slimming the hips.

Stand with your left side toward the wall and place your left hand on the wall. Swing your right leg forward and backward with a stiff knee. Reach as far in each direction as possible and make it a smooth swing. This is also reducing to the abdomen. After a while turn the right side toward the wall, place the right hand on the wall and swing your left leg forward and backward.

Another: Take the same position. This time raise the right leg forward, move it sideward, then backward, making a large circle. Continue making the circles smooth and as large as possible. Turn the right side toward the wall and circle with the left leg.

The following exercise is slimming to the hips and also to the thighs. Lie on the floor on your back. Raise the right leg up as far as comfortable. Lower leg and place it on the floor as far to the right as possible. Now swing the right leg across the left side of the body. Keep swinging the leg across the body from right to left, touching the floor on each side. After a while do the same thing with the left leg. Begin by lowering it outward and touching the floor on the left side.

If you would like to have my tested hip-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TORONTO PRICES SLIP

$5,790,328 for dredging and $1,230,214 for construction of the Trans-Canada Highway and other roads in national parks.

Topping the list was a $7,100,000 contract awarded to B. Perini & Sons Canada Ltd., Ottawa, for a new federal works department building in Ottawa.

Other contracts include: B.C. — Fraser River, B.C. B.C. Bridge & Dredging Co., Vancouver, $352,000; Wyckles Lagoon, B.C. — L. K. Creelman, Alert Bay, B.C., $8,845.

AT MONTREAL: Industrials gave ground today as the stock exchange moved into moderate trading here.

Among the base metals, International Nickel dropped 2 1/4 to 97 1/4. Aluminum was down 50 to 50, while Hudson Bay at 67 1/2 and Consolidated Smelters at 23 1/2.

AT LONDON: Conditions were quieter on the stock exchange today although selective buying of industrial equities continued.

Settlement day proceedings and a tendency to await clarification of the government attitude toward the inflationary trend were restraining influences.

Gilt-edged securities were quieter but prices held steady in the absence of selling.

There were some useful improvements among the miscellaneous leaders, but Hudson Bay lost ground. Oil shares were quietly irregular.

AT VANCOUVER: The market was fairly active. Futures sold 19,300 between 86 and 110. Quatsino sold 1,100 at 45 and Vantor moved 4,000 from $2.46 to $2.53.

AT OTTAWA: (CP) — Contracts valued at $16,510,158 were awarded during June by the federal works department.

The total for new works was $9,174,395, the department said Monday. Of the remainder $295,161 was for repair and maintenance of existing structures.

$5,790,328 for dredging and $1,230,214 for construction of the Trans-Canada Highway and other roads in national parks.

MACMILLAN SIDESTEPS HINT HE VISIT RUSSIA

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan today sidestepped a suggestion in Parliament that he now accept a long-standing Soviet invitation to visit Moscow as a result of the Khrushchev purge.

Laborite William T. Proctor told the prime minister "a visit by yourself to Russia, with an expression of our desire for peace with the Russian people might have a beneficial effect upon the possibilities of peace in the world."

Macmillan replied: "It would not be right for me to comment on the internal political developments of another country. As I have said before, visits of this kind if they are to be useful need careful preparation and timing."

Canada-U.S. To Air Wheat Dispute Soon

NEW YORK (BUP)—High-level talks between Canada and the United States to thresh out the problem of wheat export policies and other trade matters are expected shortly, informed sources said today.

Americans Lead 6-2

ST. LOUIS — American League led the National League 6-2 in the top of the ninth inning in today's annual all-star baseball game.

The American Leaguers moved into a 2-0 lead in the second inning on three walks and singles by Mickey Mantle and Vic Wertz. The rally ended the pitching chores of starter Curt Simmons.

Nationals blew a chance to break into the scoring in the fourth. With one away Aaron beat out a slow roller to Fox. Stan Musial lined a double off the top of the right field wall, Aaron stopping at third. On a 3 and 2 pitch Willie Mays popped to the infield. Bailey grounded out to Skowron at first.

American Leaguers made it 3-0 in the sixth. Skowron doubled off the right field screen, moved to third on a wild pitch by Jack Sanford and scored on Yogi Berra's single.

Nationals finally crashed through for two runs in the seventh. The rally sent Early Wynn, who had replaced Billy Loes to the showers and brought on Chicago White Sox ace Billy Pierce who shut the door in the face of the Nationals with the tying run on second base.

Jim Bunning, Detroit youngster and Loes, held the Nationals scoreless over the first six innings. Bunning retired the first nine men to face him.

Salmon Import Boost Asked by U.K. Grocers

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Retail Grocers' Federation today asked the government to increase imports of canned salmon by 10 per cent.

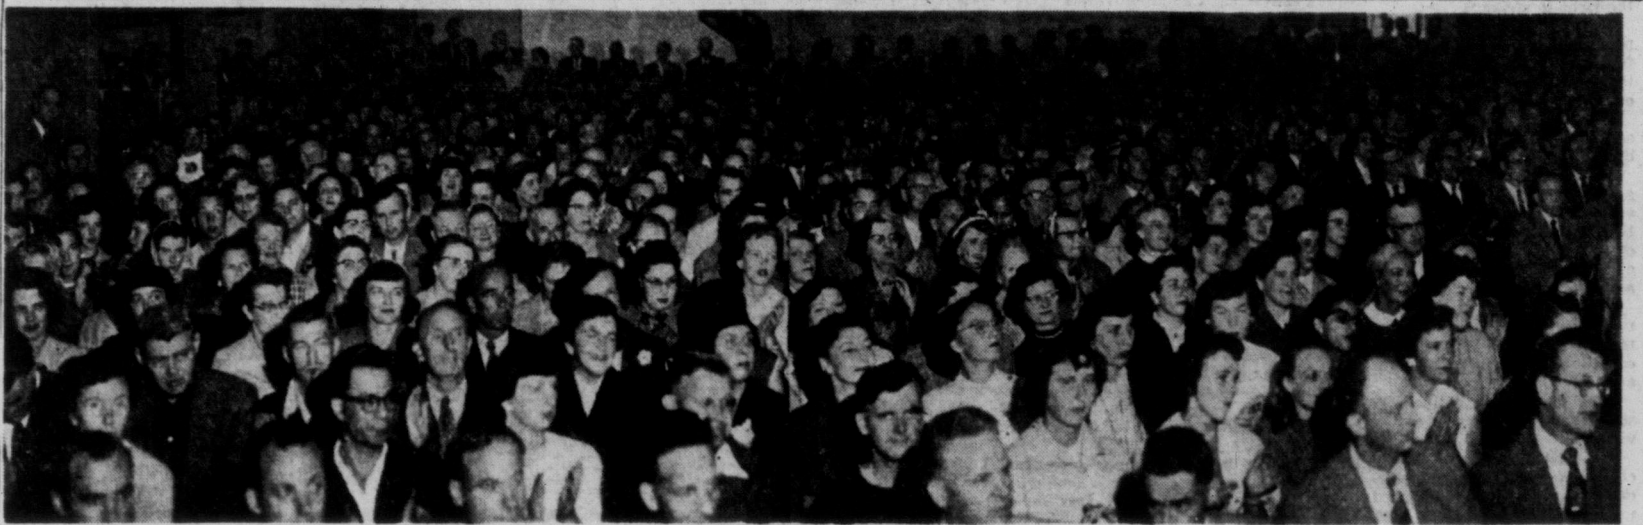

Herman Kent, federation secretary, said in a letter to two government departments — the board of trade and the ministry of fisheries — that the suggested increase would "stop the present racketeering and obviate the unjustifiably high prices" demanded of wholesalers and consumers.

Canned salmon, under a strict import quota, is considered a luxury item by most British housewives. An eight-ounce tin of choice Canadian sockeye sells for about five shillings, three pence. The same size tin of pink salmon sells for just under four shillings (56 cents). British importers now are allowed to import salmon worth £3,500,000 ($38 million) from North America. The quota for Russia is £1,100,000. The North American quota, chiefly spent in Canada, is £200,000 ($560,000) higher than the year before.

A feature of U.K. salmon imports in recent years is the increased use of Canadian salmon. From 1936 to 1938, imports of Canadian salmon averaged £770,000 annually, compared with £1,100,000 for United States salmon.

The final United States figure for 1956 is expected to be less than £900,000—more than £2,000,000 below the Canadian figure.

Schoolma'm Statue Proposed

British Columbia's leading historian, B. A. McKelvie, Cobble Hill, has urged the Centennial Committee to erect a statue here to "The Pioneer Schoolma'm" as the centenary project to receive contributions from school children.

He also asked the committee to raise the proposed statue to Sir James Douglas, B.C.'s first governor, in New Westminster rather than Victoria.

In a letter to the committee chairman, L. J. Wallace, he said the schoolma'm statue should be erected to honor the pioneer women who provided "the most useful of public gifts, education."

He added it was fitting that a woman should be "glorified" as depicting the "contribution of her sex to the advancement and prosperity of the province."

COLONY CAPITAL

He said the statue of Sir James should be in New Westminster as there are already many mementos to his memory in Victoria, and the mainland city was the capital of the old Crown colony of British Columbia.

In Victoria now are a shaft to Sir James on the Legislative Building grounds; a full-length statue in front of the front door of the buildings; another statue of him on the facade of the provincial library and historical links between Sir James and early days in a cairn on the Causeway and a cairn on Clover Point.

Mr. McKelvie's suggestions came after the committee had decided to scrap the modernistic project, a "Statue of Youth."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

"Our heavenly Father, give us just now, for one quiet moment, the healing benediction of Thy divine presence. Touch our troubled spirits with mercy and forgiveness. Turn our faces from earth to heaven. Wash from our souls the weariness of the journey. Set our feet on the upward way and support us in our faith in Thy word and truth. In every encounter of life give us the strength to fight a good fight in Thy name. We pray, in Jesus' name. Amen."

MAIN SPEAKERS at local civil service "strike rally" at Club Sirocco on Monday night were Alfred Bennett, left, assistant general secretary of B.C. Government Employees' Association, who is leading the fight, and Leslie Wismar, right, director of government services of the Canadian Labor Congress, who is acting in an advisory capacity to the executive of the employees' association in efforts to win bargaining rights with government.

Bonner, Black, Give Interview; New Talks Set

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today he believes most civil servants will stay on the job despite the 7 a.m. Friday strike deadline set by the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

His statement came on the eve of a meeting between civil service representatives and the provincial cabinet, scheduled for 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Mr. Bonner's views were supported by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

They called in reporters to give "the government side to the story."

Today's developments followed mass meetings of civil servants in Vancouver and Victoria Monday night which solidly supported the executive decision to set a strike date.

Some 1,600 members attended the Victoria meeting and decided unanimously not to settle with the government until a form of collective bargaining has been granted.

The Wednesday meeting was arranged following an exchange of wires between association president George Horridge and Mr. Black.

Premier Bennett held out the possibility of new proposals being made at this meeting.

"The government is always open-minded," he told reporters today. "We're always ready to take a second look. We took a lot of looks at the IWA dispute."

Rare Night Cabinet Session Monday

Heightening speculation that the government may have something new to suggest was the fact that the cabinet met in a rare, three-hour special session Monday night.

Asked if he thought the outcome of negotiations with the civil servants would be successful, Premier Bennett replied, "Certainly, certainly."

Attorney-General Bonner said it was his "impression" that most civil servants would honor their obligations and oath of office and stay on their jobs.

Supervisory employees all over have no intention of leaving their responsibilities," Mr. Bonner said.

This feeling is widespread throughout the civil service, he said.

"The majority of government employees view their obligations so seriously they do not intend to break off their services," the attorney-general said.

If the strike takes place it would be "partial at best."

At the same time, the attorney-general suggested that a mass walkout of government employees would be unconstitutional.

"Whereas individuals may resign from government, the resignation of a lot of persons is

French Ratify Atom Energy, Trade Pacts

PARIS (Reuters)—The National Assembly tonight approved bills authorizing the government to ratify treaties for the six-nation European common market and atomic energy pool.

It voted 341 to 235 in favor of French participation in the common market.

Later the assembly voted 337 to 243 for France to join in the Euratom treaty.

The common market treaty provides for abolition of all customs tariffs, import restrictions and export subsidies among the six partners—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. It would eventually create a unified economic community of 160,000.

The atomic energy pool treaty provides for the six countries to pool their raw material resources, scientific knowledge and production of nuclear materials.

IMBIBERS STOCKPILING IN FEAR OF 'DRY' DAYS

First signs of "stockpile" buying by consumers of alcoholic beverages appeared in Victoria liquor stores today.

A few buyers made quantity purchases to hedge against a possible strike of provincial civil servants. "There's no panic rush, but there's a noticeable tendency to buy in half-dozen and by the case," said one store employee.

Most bars in the city have already filled store rooms to capacity.

OLD FLAMES ALSO PRESENT

Princess' Romance With Peer Sparked by Party Get-Together

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret attended a birthday party Monday night with several old flames but reserved most of her dances for the handsome Irish peer who is her most frequent escort these days.

The princess was escorted to the party of the Marquess of Dufferin and Ava by Lord Plunkett, a member of the Royal household who has squired Margaret for years.

Lord Patrick Beresford, the 23-year-old Irish peer who has been out with Margaret at least twice a week for the past three months, did not arrive until after dinner. He answered his invitation too late to be included in the seating arrangements.

But it wasn't long after dinner before he and Margaret were together. They stood talking in the flood-lit roof gardens for a while, Margaret smoking a cigarette in a long holder.

Then they danced — and kept on dancing together for most of the evening.

There has been increasing speculation about Margaret and Beresford ever since he was identified as the "mystery man" who took her to a London theatre earlier this year.

He turned up every day in the Royal box at the Ascot race meeting in June and drove Margaret to nearby Windsor to watch him play pole—a sport he shares with the Duke of Edinburgh.

Beresford is a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards and commanded the escort when Queen Elizabeth took part in the traditional trooping of the color ceremonies last month.

Plunkett has been frequently linked romantically with Margaret. However, he is regarded by well-informed sources to be out of the running because of his religion—he is a Roman Catholic.

Also at the party were two other old friends—Billy Wallace and Christopher Lloyd. Lloyd took Margaret dancing a few times last year. Wallace was a frequent escort in the past.

It's the Real Spirit That Counts With Passengers of Reefed Ship

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—300 crew members rode out the night on the rocks as the British ship Reina del Pacifico was stuck on a coral reef since dawn Monday.

The passengers and some of the liner was kept brightly lit during the night. Two red lights of her foremast flashed warnings to passing ships "I am not in control" and "I am a menace to navigation."

A small armada of vessels swarmed around to help the liner. After the tugs failed, it was decided to remove cargo in advance of the next effort to get her off the reef.

The ship's orchestra raised a roar of laughter Monday night when it played A Life on the Ocean Wave.

Announcements through the day on the ship's public address system assured passengers that "the vessel is quite safe and in no danger."

not sanctioned by statute," he said.

Strike action would be a breach of the oath of office taken by the employees on joining the service, Mr. Bonner said. The attorney-general criticized the association executive for telling the members they had the right to strike.

"I think they have received poor advice when it is suggested to them that they have the right to turn the services off and on."

Mr. Bonner attacked what he said was "propaganda" put out by the association executive.

"Individual members of the government are personally resentful of the very obvious attempts that have been made to color the constitutional position of the executive as an attitude antagonistic to labor."

The position of the government has been that it is directed by "what we believe to be constitutional limitations on our actions."

"Our position is defined by statute, and can't be changed by whim."

Mr. Black said a "fairly elaborate" bargaining procedure was already established under the Civil Service Act, which had never been fully used by the association.

Mr. Bonner said the government had a "duty" to maintain services under provincial statutes.

It is the government view that all services are essential, and the attorney-general described as "remarkable" a suggestion that the association should decide what services should be maintained.

This was a usurpation of the functions of the ministers, he said.

There is "not the slightest possibility" that there would be interruption in the maintenance of provincial jails.

"I am not asking them (prison workers) to stay on the

Czech Reds Hail Kremlin Bosses

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UP)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin carried the new party line to their Czech comrades in a whistle-stopping train trip to Prague today.

The Soviet leaders crossed the border from the Ukraine today by the Russian and Czech leaders and were met by a group of top ranking Czech Communist officials. The two groups joined forces and continued their journey toward this capital city along a route that was decorated with flags, bunting and slogans and marked by enthusiastic receptions from local populace.

Presumably the Soviet travellers filled in their traveling companions on the details of the recent Kremlin purges which ousted V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich, and the rise of Khrushchev to undisputed top rank in Moscow.

Definite dates for formal talks job, I expect it," Mr. Bonner said.

ONE OF SIX

Only one of six Social Credit members of the legislature questioned in the Vancouver area gave solid support to Premier Bennett in the dispute with the province's civil servants.

Bert Price of Vancouver Burrard gave strong support to letters sent to government employees advising them if they strike they will be fired. But mixed reactions came from Fred Sharp of Vancouver East, Thomas Bate of Point Grey and Mel Bryan of Vancouver North.

Mr. Sharp said he thought the civil servants' "requests for trade union rights, arbitration and salary raises were... fair enough."

"The members haven't been consulted," he said. "I think we should have a one or two-day session of the legislature."

The British Columbia Federation of Labor has offered support to the civil servants.

An official of the 100,000-member organization said the federation will ask Premier Bennett to start negotiating "immediately" with the Government Employees Association.

George Home, secretary of the labor federation, said the federation "will call upon all affiliates to give all support to the association."

The association's demand for bargaining rights is the main stumbling block in the dispute.

The civil servants want to submit their present demand for a 13 per cent average over-all wage increase to an impartial arbitration board, which would also decide future agreements.

Tory Cabinet Plans New Look At Internal Security System

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Progressive Conservative cabinet used to allege that Mr. Norman was a Communist.

This review will involve two problems: Exchange of security information with the United States and possible overhaul of the government's internal security system.

The first of these stems from the April 4 suicide of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Cairo, after the U.S. Senate internal security sub-committee received 1931 charges that he was a Communist.

In late 1951, the RCMP sent a report to the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation that one of its secret agents in 1940 had reported that Mr. Norman was a member of the Communist party. Six weeks later, the RCMP informed the FBI that its original report was false. However, the original report branding Mr. Norman as a Communist in 1940 fell into the hands of the U. S. Sen-

HERE'S HOW WILLOWS WILL LOOK

Here is artist's conception of Willows Beach Esplanade development expected to be finished by mid-September at cost of $45,000, financed by Capital Improvement District Commission. View is from north of beach. Project includes concrete sidewalk above retaining wall, an asphalt driveway and ornamental lighting. Square will be provided for parking 240 cars. The road is not for through traffic. At Thorpe Place, for example, there will be steps only to the Esplanade. Walk will be six feet wide; parking area from 30 to 40 feet in width with ample turning space.

MONTE ROBERTS

I see where genial George Warren, our pulsating public commissioner, is receiving lots and lots of mail. This mail comes from far and wide, and it is largely devoted to investigating the feasibility of spending a holiday in Victoria.

Naturally, George is answering said mail, and pointing out that it is indeed feasible to spend a holiday in Victoria. And, in George's opinion, if you chance to spend a few bucks as well as your holiday here, this is all well and good. The idea of spending a holiday in Victoria is an excellent one. But I don't think the holidaying in Victoria should be confined to people from far and wide.

Holidaying in Victoria should be permitted for Victoria people, too.

The way things are now, people from Victoria are apt to go far and wide for their holidays, while people from far and wide come here for their holidays.

This distresses my sense of the efficient. There seems to be unnecessary waste effort here, with people running about to and from far and wide.

I believe there is a simple solution—which brings us back to the letters received by Genial George Warren.

When genial George receives a letter from say, Las Vegas, asking about the possibility of holidaying here, he should get in touch with a Victoria resident who is considering the possibility of holidaying in Las Vegas.

The Victoria resident should then write to the Las Vegas resident, offering to enjoy a holiday here in Victoria on behalf of the Las Vegas resident, in return for which the Las Vegas resident would enjoy a holiday in Las Vegas on behalf of the Victoria resident.

In that way, Victorians could enjoy a vacation in some far distant place every year without leaving home, and people who live in far distant places could enjoy Victoria holidays at little or no expense.

I will admit this plan might be a little hard on the transportation companies, but then, the transportation companies are forever complaining they lose money providing transportation.

I am about to write to a friend in Toronto, offering to spend a holiday for him in Victoria.

I can think of no greater favor I could do for a friend in Toronto at this time of year.

EILEEN DI TULLIO

SYMPHONY GUEST

'Blues Record' Started Singer On Way to Fame

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A jazz record by an American blues singer launched Eileen Di Tullio on a classical singing career which probably will take her to the famed Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

Meanwhile, the gracious young coloratura soprano will entertain Victoria music lovers as soloist in the first of the summer symphony concerts to be given by Hans Gruber and Victoria Symphony Orchestra in Butchart Gardens on Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

GOOD CHANCE

Dark-haired Miss Di Tullio was one of five operatic singers chosen recently from among 250 competitors in the Metropolitan auditions of the air, and this gives her a good chance of a debut in Metropolitan opera.

Yet it was the Blues that originally got her. She was only eight years old when the sombre rhythms of a colored blues singer on her father's phonograph captivated her interest.

"I forget his name but I used to sing with his record every day," Miss Di Tullio recounted in an interview at the Empress Hotel, "and I told everyone I was going to grow up to be a blues singer."

HEARD CARUSO

The turning point came four years later when 12-year-old Eileen heard a record of Caruso, the great Italian tenor, singing "Una Furtiva Lativa" by Verdi. "I played this poor old record till it was nearly worn out," she said. "I sang with Caruso and delighted in sharing the high C with him. I did this so often I felt I was singing with a teacher—an old friend—yet he had been dead many years then."

At 18 Miss Di Tullio started training in earnest and her father—an actor named Joseph Caprano—sent her to the Academy of Vocal Arts in Philadelphia.

Her first break came two years later when she became the singing voice, backstage, of Helen Hayes in a comedy called "Happy Birthday."

CLEVERLY MIMED

"I sang behind the curtain and Miss Hayes cleverly mimed my words. She is a wonderful person... the most adorable actress I have ever known."

Since then Miss Di Tullio has made numerous concert appearances in the eastern United States and she hopes to make a tour of Europe next fall. This would take her to Italy, her parent's birthplace and the home of grand opera.

Victoria Lawn Tennis Club will hold a stag and stagette cocktail party and dance in the Amphion Street clubhouse next Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Strike Action Favored By Piledrivers

Meetings in Victoria Friday and in Nanaimo within the next few days will decide the course of action to be taken by 160 Vancouver Island piledrivers, the majority of whom voted in favor of strike action in a union strike vote compiled here today.

Companies involved are Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd., Victoria Pile Driving Co. Ltd., and B.C. Pile Drivers Ltd.

The strike vote followed rejection of a conciliation board award by the three firms.

The companies objected to recommendations providing for pay during travelling time to and from work, except for 15 minutes of the employees' own time, each way.

16 CENTS

The board award also called for a 16-cent hourly wage boost retroactive to April 1 and a further seven cents Oct. 1, raising the hourly rate to $2.57. This was earlier accepted by the union, Pile Drivers, Bridge, Dock and Wharf Builders' International Union, local 2415.

The union now has reverted to its original demands for a raise to $3.25 an hour.

Youth Fined $100 For Obstructing Police Officer

John Albert Harrison, Victoria, was fined $100 or 30 days when he appeared in city police court today convicted of obstructing a police officer last Saturday night on Yates Street.

Cons. James Ramsay told the court Harrison was one of a group of youths he told to disperse at about 11:50 p.m. Harrison refused to move and incited others to stay, the constable said.

Man Found Guilty Of Possessing Stolen Car Rugs

George Lee, 759 Queens, was found guilty in city police court today of possessing stolen property taken from a tourist's car June 20, and remanded to next Monday for sentence.

Previously sentenced for the theft, Cyril Morgan, 429 Belleville, told the court Lee had been with him for about 12 hours the night the auto was entered near a downtown hotel.

He said Lee stayed in Lee's car, parked about 150 yards away, while the entry was made and two car rugs taken from an American car.

Morgan said he took them back to Lee's car and put them inside, then they drove away.

About two hours later, he said, he told Lee he had no use for the rugs and that Lee could have them if he wanted them. The rugs were left in the car when Morgan went home.

Morgan said both had been drinking. "He knew they were stolen, I know that," Morgan said.

Home-to-Home Survey Planned By Civil Defence

'Do You Know What To Do in Attack?'

House-to-house check of Greater Victoria householders to see how well they understand their role in the event of an atomic attack will be carried out by Civil Defence headquarters this month.

The project is likely to take "quite a few months" to complete and will require about 200 canvassers, CD co-ordinator Roger Peachey said today.

Some calls have been made in the Hillside-Cook Street area.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Calls will begin in earnest "as soon as we have enough volunteers," Mr. Peachey said.

Civil defence "disaster" pamphlets, listing protective measures in case of attack and evacuation routes from the city, were sent out to householders last fall.

"We want to make sure they read and understand them," Mr. Peachey said.

Householders who have lost their pamphlets will receive more from the canvassers.

He spent a year in California, then returned to Victoria to start his own welding supply firm.

He was a member of Victoria Rotary Club, Columbia Royal Arch Chapter, and Henderson Lodge No. 84, AF & AM, under whose auspices the funeral will be held. Mr. Rogers also was a former boxer and member of the Hamilton Boxing Club, and helped to launch the non-denominational church at Elk Lake.

Lighthouseman Funeral Set For Wednesday

Henry Cunner Watts, 96, for 32 years a lighthouse engineer on Discovery Island, died Saturday at Mountain View Home after more than 60 years of residence on the Pacific Coast.

Born in London, England, he trained as a steam engineer, and came to Manitoba with his family in 1882. In 1896 he came to Victoria, where he worked as an engineer on tugboats, and for a time was organist at St. Mark's Church, Boleskine Road.

In 1901 he went to Discovery Island to run the steam plant that gave power for the light and fog signal, and stayed until 1933, when he retired at the age of 72.

Funeral will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at Chaplin's, and interment will take place at Ross Bay Cemetery.

$200 PRIZE WEDNESDAY

Mystery Woman Takes Size 12

Reward for catching the Six-Day Shopping Week Mystery Woman Wednesday afternoon jumps to $200 this week.

The prize goes up because no one found the mystery shopper last week in the campaign sponsored by merchants who are now open Wednesday afternoon.

If she escapes again, the prize will increase $100 each week to a total jackpot of $500 on July 31. If she is caught, it reverts to $100 the following week.

The mystery woman wears a size 12 dress and size six shoes. To win the prize, an adult shopper must ask her, "Are you the Six-Day Shopping Week Mystery Woman?" The precise wording is necessary.

The mystery woman will be either on the street or in a store or cafe in the area bounded by Quadra, Wharf, Herald and Humboldt.

Many city stores, including leading department stores, have taken advantage of regulations contained in the new Municipal Act and are open Wednesday afternoons and Friday evenings for July and August.

Men's wear and shoe store groups have reaffirmed their policy to observe either full-day or half-day closing on Wednesday and do not open on Friday nights.

Driver Knifed, Robbed by Trio

PROF. C. L. LAMBERTSON... son of a lamb herder.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

You Just Name It He'll Explain It

By DINAH KERR

Wonder if the six Farquhars in the phone book know that their name means "very dear one?"

Or if the 32 Websters realize they took their name from a female ancestor—a weaver by trade?

And are the four O'Donnells aware that they were originally sons of the "world might," which was pretty mighty even back in the days of AD?

Prof. C. L. Lamberton (a lamb herder's son) knows.

A summer session lecturer here from King's College, Halifax, he'll speak on "Family Names and Their Origins" at Victoria College Thursday at 12:15 p.m.

Heavy Disguise

"All names come from one of four places," Prof. Lamberton said, "but sometimes under pretty heavy disguise."

For instance, "Webb" can be traced back to a male weaver, and by adding the feminine "ster" you get to the women. The same thing goes for Baker and "Baxter," a female baker.

"Donnell" means "world might," and the preceding "O" stood for "son of" when Ireland wasn't much more than a sod.

Christian names form one division of the history of surnames—such as "Nels" whose son was known as "Nelson"—likewise "John"

and "Johnson," and "Erik" and "Erickson."

Place names form another division—and that's where we get Fields, Underhill, and Slade (an opening in the woods, a glade). Victoria's four Seales and one Seal probably derived their name from a reclusive. At least their names originated with the French "la salle," meaning "room."

Then there are "occupational" names, such as Turner (a carpenter), Taylor, Smith, Wright and Cooper.

And, finally, the nicknames which were pretty descriptive in old, old England.

They've led to the surnames of Noble, which is self-evident, and Power, which isn't.

The three Power and three Powers families here will be dismayed to note that the names came from the French "pauvre," meaning "poor." But there's good news for the Bunns, Boones and Bones, Prof. Lamberton said.

Good Indeed

Their names derive from the French "bon" which is good indeed.

The Jollifs took their name from "Joli" French for "pretty," and the Fairfax (literally "blonde hair") from their fair-haired forbears.

"Ap" in Welsh means "son of" and the Ap Richards have become "Pritchards" and the Ap Hopkins, "Popkins."

Tongue Lazy

"The human tongue is always looking for an easy way of doing things," Prof. Lamberton explained.

Furthermore, there's no need for the city's Bishops, Kings, Lords, Priests and Priors to preen.

Their ancestors didn't hold these positions—they were servants of the men, but everyone was just too lazy to say "Bishop's man" and "Lord's man," like they should have.

For Taxation

Origin of family names can be traced back to Middle England circa 1,100 AD, Prof. Lamberton said.

"They were set when villages began to grow up, mainly for purposes of taxation," he said.

"So that John who lived by the mill became John Mill, and Richard down by the brook became Richard Brookes."

So you see—taxation has an even more fundamental part in your life than you believed.

Car Stolen As 'Friend' Given Lift

A 37-year-old Esquimalt man was beaten and robbed of his car and $146 early today on Harbor Road.

Donald William Carson, 618 Grenville, was admitted and treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for abrasions and what appeared to be a knife wound on his right cheek.

Police are hunting three young men Carson said he picked up downtown and drove to department of transport wharf on the inner harbor.

ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

Carson's car, a 1957 two-door sedan, was found at 7:25 a.m. by Esquimalt police, abandoned on Lamson Street School grounds.

It was held for possible fingerprints in city police garage. Carson was released from hospital about mid-morning.

Joseph Smith, 3538 Holland, a night watchman at the department of transport wharf on Harbor Road, called police at 1:40 a.m. to request an ambulance.

BLEEDING

Police found Carson sitting in the night watchman's office, bleeding from injuries.

He told police he had been drinking beer in a Johnson Street hotel, then drove west on Johnson where he picked up three young men, one of whom was known to him.

Carson told police the three beat him and robbed him of his wallet then drove away in his car.

The wallet was later found by police at the wharf, where there were two pools of blood about 15 feet in front of the transport department's hydrographic surveys building.

Woolworth Ltd. To Take Over Two Store Sites

Three well-known Victoria stores will move or add to their premises between now and next spring.

It is reported that F. W. Woolworth Ltd. will expand to take over adjoining stores now operated by Malleks Ltd. and F. W. Francis Ltd. But the work is not expected to get underway before early 1958.

Malleks and Francis will take over new shops in the new Mallek block on the west side of Douglas near Fisgard.

A spokesman for Francis said the new store will be opened in August and between then and the end of this year the firm will likely operate at both addresses—the old and the new.

He said officials of the Woolworth firm had already surveyed the Douglas Street premises.

Manager of Woolworths in Victoria, E. A. Hobbs, said he could not disclose any details until a company official now overseeing an expansion plan in Prince Rupert arrives here. He did not know when the visit would take place.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—Some years ago C. H. Douglas, proponent of the Social Credit theory, visited Victoria. When was that and what were the results of his missionary effort?—A. J. D.

A—Tuesday evening, March 27, 1934, Maj. Douglas addressed an informal meeting of B.C. MLAs. He said it was the duty of parliamentary institutions to fight the gigantic monopoly governing the monetizing of the real wealth of the country.

"We know where the trouble is that causes poverty amid plenty," he said. "We must tell them to make the necessary adjustments in the system." If they could not do it, Social Creditors would give them expert advice. If they then failed to do so, Social Creditors would remove their control.

As to results the reader will judge for himself. The world's first Social Credit government, the Aberhart government of Alberta, came to power in 1937.

Scenes of Paris Shown In Watercolor Prints

By PENNY SAVER

Really attractive prints for a living room or bedroom wall are always hard to find, and I was pleased to find some watercolor prints by a French artist named Le Bailly. The prints are views of Paris, done in wonderfully soft pastels. My favorite was of a flower-covered quai on the Seine. In ivory frames, the prints are $4.50 each.

On Etiquette

Acknowledge Wedding Gifts Promptly:

When is the proper time to acknowledge wedding gifts? I have been told it should be done prior to the wedding, but, if so, how about the signature? What kind of stationery should be used and how about the printed or engraved name?

Louise Davis

Answers:
A bride-to-be should begin her thank you notes as soon as gifts are received. She mails them promptly. If she procrastinates, she will find herself bogged down as the important day approaches. She is generally so busy during these few days beforehand with last minute details that she has little time for notes. When she returns from the wedding trip, she immediately begins where she left off. The shorter the notes the better, but they can be sincere. Those written and mailed before the wedding are signed with her given name, such as Genevieve Anderson. She uses her new signature after she is married, such as Genevieve Anderson King. It is a good plan in all of the notes to include the fiancé's or bridegroom's name in the message. For example: "Paul loves your lamp as much as I do." Stationery shouldn't have any engraved or printed names. Monograms which are acceptable can sometimes be a nuisance. If the notes are written before the wedding, the initials should be those of the maiden name. The monogram of those written afterwards would, of course, have to include the initial of the bridegroom's last name (G. A. K.). Therefore, plain white or off white note paper is simpler.

Fireworks Colors Seen At First Fashion Show

NEW YORK (AP) — A red, white and blue plaid velvet dinner costume with shoes to match was the show today at Jane Derby's preview of fall fashions, on the first day of a crowded week of showings for the fashion press.

The gown climaxed a showing of opulent dresses and suits designed for a prosperous public.

Sensational is the only word for the Derby evening collection, which uses color with the abandon of a fireworks display, playing up shocker colors and brilliant metallics, along with unusual prints such as bold floral printed chiffons.

SLENDER SUITS

Daytime suits and costumes here are fur-bearing, slender and easy of fit. If the suits aren't fur-trimmed they are satin-trimmed, and sometimes both fur and satin are used for a luxury touch, such as a mink-collared suit tied with a big brown satin bow.

The belted and bloused silhouette is the pet of the Nettie Rosenstein collection, in marked contrast with the loose, unfitted lines predominant in most other showings. Mrs. Rosenstein likes a neat waistline, and although she doesn't cinch it, she marks it with a belt-wide or contoured but definitely shaping the silhouette. The original advocate

Tennis Club Dance

A stag and stageette cocktail party and dance will be held this Saturday evening at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club commencing at 8.30 p.m. to mark completion of play in the week-long city championship tennis tournament. It will be held in the Amphion Street clubhouse, and members of all clubs may attend.

This red, white and blue plaid velvet dinner costume with shoes to match should add color to any dinner party. It's the creation of designer Jane Derby and highlights her preview of fall fashions. The pale blue bodice is strapless and shirred. (AP Wirephoto.)

Far too many women allow the belief that they do not have enough money to become lovely or to stay youthful hush them into inactivity and early aging. Today I want to give you exercises for slimming the hips.

Stand with your left side toward the wall and place your left hand on the wall. Swing your right leg forward and backward with a stiff knee. Reach as far in each direction as possible and make it a smooth swing. This is also reducing to the abdomen. After a while turn the right side toward the wall, place the right hand on the wall and swing your left leg forward and backward.

Another: Take the same position. This time raise the right leg forward, move it sideways, then backward, making a large circle. Continue making the circles smooth and as large as possible. Turn the right side toward the wall and circle with the left leg.

The following exercise is slimming to the hips and also to the thighs. Lie on the floor on your back. Raise the right leg up as far as comfortable. Lower leg and place it on the floor as far to the right as possible. Now swing the right leg across the left and touch the floor—on the left side of the body. Keep swinging the leg across the body from right to left, touching the floor on each side. After a while do the same thing with the left leg. Begin by lowering it outward and touching the floor on the left side.

If you would like to have my tested hip-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

98,836 Attend Stampede For New Mark

CALGARY (CP)—Excitement exploded over the Calgary Stampede Monday as rodeo events got off to a dusty and roaring start. One cowboy was injured in the bareback riding contest when his horse threw and then trampled him.

Fred Banks of Staffordshire, Eng., was one of the first riders injured in the week-long Stampede which started Monday after a 90-minute parade through downtown Calgary. However, he was in good condition and is expected to return to competition.

A total of 98,836 persons visited the Stampede to set a new opening day attendance record. Previous record of 97,663 was set last year.

A record 130,000 persons watched the colorful parade, some taking up positions along the two-mile route nearly three hours before it started. Others viewed it from boxes, bleachers and kitchen chairs.

Flu Hits PM

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Shukri Kuwath of Syria was stricken Monday in the Asian flu epidemic sweeping Syria. The health ministry said the epidemic has spread over the country in five days, afflicting uncounted hundreds.

Marines Too Rough, U.S. Navy Complains

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Navy said today 10 marines at this Asian naval base are under arrest and may be court-martialed on charges of mistreating prisoners. A navy spokesman said the men were arrested after the prisoners—presumably sailors—complained they had been slapped and "roughed up."

Eye Still Top Weapon For Ground Observers

OTTAWA (CP)—In a military air age of radar, supersonic speeds and complex electronics, the Ground Observer Corps, which employs only the human eye, is ironically taking on increased importance.

The Corps comprises some 40,000 volunteers in Canada who report to 11 RCAF filter centres on planes they spot. Corps posts—there are between 4,000 and 5,000—are designed primarily to report on low-flying aircraft which can sneak under radar beams.

Officials say that radar is of little use in spotting and tracking aircraft flying under 2,000 feet. And they add, the Russians have a long-range, turbo-jet bomber which is almost as efficient at low level as at high altitude.

DROP OUT OF SIGHT

Moreover, a Soviet jet bomber—jets are efficient only at high altitude—could easily be tracked by the northern warning lines but then drop down to low level out of radar's range before an RCAF or U.S. Air Force jet interceptor could be guided to it by radar.

The RCAF already is taking measures to counteract the low-level threat.

CF-100 fighter squadrons are being equipped with a new navigation device which can quickly calculate a course to intercept a low-flying bomber. The informa-

Garages Ask Return To Limited Hours

Sixty-six out of 82 Victoria service stations want the city again to place limits on their hours of business.

A petition filed at City Hall Monday wants re-implementation of the "discriminatory" by-law which names 10 stations which must stay open 24 hours a day while all others close at 6 p.m.

Since July 1, all stations have been permitted to observe any hours they wished.

Council recently stalled final reading of a by-law which would have restored the 10-station system. A public hearing was set after protests from some dealers who said the system was restrictive to trade.

INVALID
City solicitor T. P. O'Grady called the 10-station system discriminatory and said such a by-law would be invalid under the new Municipal Act.

The old act gave the city special discriminatory powers.

Municipal affairs Minister W. D. Black held the same opinion, but was overruled by the B.C. cabinet which approved the new by-law. A previous by-law which abolished all restriction of hours is in effect until council makes its final decision.

Date of the hearing is July 25. It could be cancelled in view of the petition.

The lowest and/or tender not necessarily accepted.

AUDREY AT TUTS

Deluge Disrupts 'Where's Charley'

By AUDREY SLD. JOHNSON
Times Music and Drama Critic

VANCOUVER — Sodden weather Monday soaked Vancouver in a day-long deluge enveloping the Malkin Bowl, and as a result opening night of "Where's Charley," Theatre Under the Stars second production of the year, was converted into a glorified dress rehearsal, complete with orchestra and costumes.

Not more than a dozen on-lookers huddled on dripping canvas chairs with umbrellas overhead instead of stars. But wet and sparse though the audience was, it responded with hearty laughter and spatters of genuine applause as the musical ran its merry course.

According to backstage comments members of the cast felt like a starved deer that had been left out in the downpour. The wit was not particularly noticeable from out front, however. In fact, in spite of wishing I had worn a bathing suit and not bothered trying to keep dry, the company succeeded in giving me an interesting and amusing couple of hours.

KITTY TOPS

Former Times staffer Kitty Dixon in an important supporting role had something to do with the effect on this member of the audience.

She sang with verve, and radiated personality across the footlights.

Kitty was a lovely confection in her picturesque costume.

She looked good enough, too, from the talent point of view to suggest intriguing possibilities.

Traffic Laws Help Montreal Visitors

MONTREAL (CP)—Tolerance and goodwill are paramount in Montreal's handling of traffic-law violations by visiting tourists.

The traffic division of the police department, under Inspector Girard Brodeur, has devised a system in which two types of tickets—white and blue—are used.

The white ticket is for a simple parking violation and is not recorded by the constable. The blue ticket is numbered and serves as a warning in such cases as passing through stop signs.

POLITE REMINDER

The white ticket has a blank space for the licence number of the car and lists six types of parking violations, any of which can be checked off. It says: "A summons could have been sent you for this offence, and in return for our leniency in this case, we beg to ask of you to grant us your co-operation to obtain the observance of the traffic by-laws."

"We hope that in the future you will not compel us to apply the law in all its severity; instead, that we can rely upon you for a better observance of the traffic by-laws in Montreal."

The ticket is signed "Traffic Bureau."

The blue ticket is no less polite but is a little more firm. It is handed to the driver of a car seen violating a traffic offence. The ticket has places for name, address, licence number and specific infraction. It reads:

"Please be advised this violation will be recorded. We respectfully request your co-operation for the proper observance of traffic regulations. The police department reserves the right to take court action in this case."

Inspector Brodeur said, however, that visiting motorists cannot expect tolerance for serious violations, such as reckless driving or blocking a fire hydrant.

"We depend on the constables to use their good judgment," he said. "Thus far we have found the warning tickets have had both a salutary and goodwill effect."

Most other municipalities in greater Montreal area have systems of warning and tolerance, but Outremont shows no favors.

Chief Joseph Griffiths of Outremont said: "The law is made for everyone—Canadian and American drivers. There are enough signs around to make everybody familiar with regulations."

Asked what would happen if a tourist paid his fine in U.S. currency—now worth about five cents less than the Canadian dollar—the chief said:

"Well, let's say that we accept American currency for fines and we'll take the initial loss on each dollar. That's part of the goodwill."

New Synthetic Element Revealed

CHICAGO (AP)—Discovery of element 102—the 10th and newest synthetic element of the atomic age—was announced today by a joint international research team from the United States, Britain and Sweden.

The new element was the proposed name of nobelium, after the Nobel Institute for Physics in Stockholm. It was made by bombarding curium, synthetic element 96, with positively charged carbon ions accelerated in the Nobel institute's cyclotron.

Canadian Verse Being Adapted For Hungarians

BRANTFORD (CP)—A Canadian university president and a Hungarian immigrant are working together on a large-scale translation of Canadian poems into the Hungarian language.

Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., and Ferenc Fay, a 35-year-old Hungarian poet, are collaborating on the translations of 150 Canadian poems selected by Dr. Kirkconnell.

It is the first time a Hungarian translation of this scope on Canadian poems has been attempted and Mr. Fay says he hopes southern European cultural groups will duplicate their efforts and translate the Fay-Kirkconnell editions into the Slav languages.

Mr. Fay, a Hungarian university graduate and now a job-hunting father of four children, is rated as one of Hungary's top expatriate poets. His works have been published in Canada, the United States, Argentina, Australia, France, Germany and elsewhere.

He recently published a brief sketch on the life of Canada's original Indian poet, Pauline Johnson, in the Hungarian-language weekly, Magyar Elet Hungarian Life. He also has published Hungarian translations of three of her poems.

Like Pauline Johnson, whose works tell of the sufferings of the Indians and call on the "white man" to alleviate the trials of her people, Mr. Fay's work often reflects the sufferings of the Hungarian nation.

His most recent work, "Lamentations of Jeremiah," was printed by the Hungarian Helikon of Canada, a society of 100 Hungarian-Canadian writers, artists and sculptors. It is a philosophical work based on the Biblical book of Jeremiah.

Rotarians Hear About Ceramics

CHEMAINUS—Ceramics, the art of molding and baking clay, was explained and demonstrated to members of the Rotary Club this week by Mrs. C. G. Ford and Mrs. M. Tallman.

Mrs. Ford, who teaches a ceramics class here, told Rotarians that as a hobby ceramics "is a wonderful way for people to express themselves."

Last September, she said, a group of ladies gathered in her basement to learn about ceramics, and it was not long before they were making articles themselves. There are now 32 women in the group.

Mrs. Ford demonstrated mold pouring, and explained the stages involved in making an ashtray. Mrs. Tallman demonstrated the slab method of making articles in clay. On display were some of the items made by the class of women, including vases, coffee mugs and figurines.

Retirement savings and your tax position

MONTREAL TRUST COMPANY

Under the terms of the revised Income Tax Act, a self-employed person may deduct from his taxable income certain funds set aside for a retirement savings programme.

Montreal Trust Company offers you a Government-registered Plan that provides unusually wide scope in taking full advantage of this new provision. It is a particularly flexible plan designed to provide retirement income for professional men and self-employed businessmen under advantageous terms.

Options under the Plan are available to offset effects of possible inflation.

You may participate in the Retirement Savings Plan by arrangement with any branch of The Royal Bank of Canada. Funds can be accumulated at your own discretion during the course of the year but remain under your control until transferred into the Retirement Plan. This enables you to establish the amount you wish to contribute (within the limits specified by the Act) before preparing your income tax returns for the year. You are not committed to fixed contributions.

You may obtain a booklet giving full information about our new Retirement Savings Plan at any branch of The Royal Bank of Canada.

Time Burial, Flagpole Sitting Mark Spread of 'Silly Season'

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal's marathon "Silly Season" is striking new highs—and possibly new lows.

High point at the moment is perky Marie-Anne Jajoie, 31, who has been 75 feet up a flagpole for 12 days, and plans to stay at least another 15 days.

Lowest point will be six feet under ground if two Montreals—Maurice Thibodeau and Lionel Edward Thibodeau—go through with a plan to bury themselves in steel time capsules for two weeks to six months.

The stunts started last April with a pithonathon in a local night club that lasted more than 100 hours. From then on, this bilingual city has seen hardly a day without some wacky marathon in progress.

There have been rockathons—rocking chair contests with the last one "off his rocker" being the winner. Two frogmen staged an aquathon to see who could stay underwater longest.

ALSO POTEAU-THONS
Other marathons included a pithonathon, walkathons, a pipeathon for pipe smokers, and then—in the last five weeks—a series of

"poteau-thons," which is French for flagpole sitting.

Last week, four aerial squatters were at their posts, but two have come down. Andre Lamoureux crawled 50 feet down a rickety wooden ladder and moaned about his knees, swollen from crawling around his sheltered 64-inch-by-68-inch platform for 24 days.

The next day, Arthur Tremblay, a hefty ex-wrestler, borrowed a fire department ladder and touched ground for the first time in 25 days, five hours to claim the world's flagpole championship. He lost 40 pounds.

"First time I've seen my toes in five years," he said, patting his trimmer tummy, and promising a new record later this summer.

STILL UP THERE
Two are still in the air. Mrs. Jajoie had a construction crane lift her in a bucket to her two-tier perch on a busy city boulevard June 27, and Russell Poissant went up his pole June 19 in Laprairie, eight miles away across the St. Lawrence River.

All were caught in Montreal's third wettest June in history.

A previous pole-athon rival did his stint aloft to pay for moving his mother's remains to another cemetery. But the pay is poor.

Lamoureux figured his donations worked out to 25 cents an hour.

"It's hard work up there," he complained. "I can't stand up. I don't sleep. And since the money is so poor, why should I stay up?"

Other troubles included ruffians who arrived late at night and shook his pole and supporting guy wires.

The cosmopolitan city has taken the latest marathons in stride, showing casual but not sustained interest in the competitors.

Said one spectator as he glanced skyward for a glimpse at one of the sitters: "That is strictly for the birds."

1,600 CIVIL SERVANTS JAM 'STRIKE MEETING' HERE

Bonner, Black Give Government's Views

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today he believes most civil servants will stay on the job despite the 7 a.m. Friday strike deadline set by the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

His statement came on the eve of a meeting between civil service representatives and the provincial cabinet, scheduled for 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Mr. Bonner's views were supported by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

They called in reporters to give "the government side to the story."

Today's developments followed mass meetings of civil servants in Vancouver and Victoria Monday night which solidly supported the executive decision to set a strike date.

Rare Night Cabinet Session Monday

Heightening speculation that the government may have something new to suggest was the fact that the cabinet met in a rare, three-hour special session Monday night.

Asked if he thought the outcome of negotiations with the civil servants would be successful, Premier Bennett replied, "Certainly, certainly."

Attorney-General Bonner said it was his "impression" that most civil servants would honor their obligations and oath of office and stay on their jobs.

"Supervisory employees all over have no intention of leaving their responsibilities," Mr. Bonner said.

the Victoria meeting and decided unanimously not to settle with the government until a form of collective bargaining has been granted.

The Wednesday meeting was arranged following an exchange of wires between association president George Horridge and Mr. Black.

Premier Bennett held out the possibility of new proposals being made at this meeting.

"The government is always open-minded," he told reporters today. "We're always ready to take a second look. We took a lot of looks at the IWA dispute."

This feeling is widespread throughout the civil service, he said.

"The majority of government employees view their obligations so seriously they do not intend to break off their services," the attorney-general said.

If the strike takes place it would be "partial at best."

At the same time, the attorney-general suggested that a mass walkout of government employees would be unconstitutional.

"Whereas individuals may resign from government, the resignation of a lot of persons is Continued on Page 2

Schoolma'm Statue Proposed

British Columbia's leading historian, B. A. McKelvie, Cobble Hill, has urged the Centennial Committee to erect a statue here to "The Pioneer Schoolma'm" as the centenary project to receive contributions from school children.

He also asked the committee to raise the proposed statue to Sir James Douglas, B.C.'s first governor, in New Westminster rather than Victoria.

In a letter to the committee chairman, L. J. Wallace, he said the schoolma'm statue should be erected to honor the pioneer women who provided "the most useful of public gifts, education."

He added it was fitting that a woman should be "glorified" as depicting the "contribution of her sex to the advancement and prosperity of the province."

COLONY CAPITAL

He said the statue of Sir James should be in New Westminster as there are already many monuments to his memory in Victoria, and the mainland city was the capital of the old Crown colony of British Columbia.

In Victoria now are a shaft to Sir James on the Legislative Building grounds; a full-length statue in front of the front door of the buildings; another statue of him on the facade of the provincial library and historical links between Sir James and early days in a cairn on the Causeway and a cairn on Clover Point.

Mr. McKelvie's suggestions came after the committee had decided to scrap the modernistic project, a "Statue of Youth."

Canada-U.S. To Air Wheat Dispute Soon

NEW YORK (BUP)—High-level talks between Canada and the United States to thrash out the problem of wheat export policies are expected shortly, informed sources said today.

Canadian Prime Minister John D. Diefenbaker was expected to take the initiative for such talks, these sources added.

They said that the talks would range far beyond the U.S. farm surplus disposal program which Diefenbaker singled out for sharp criticism last Saturday.

They could be expected to include U.S. tariff policies against Canadian goods, the deficit in trade between the two countries and Diefenbaker's announced desire to switch 15 per cent of Canada's imports from the U.S. to Britain.

These sources pointed out that the joint U.S.-Canadian committee on trade and economic affairs provides existing machinery for such talks. If the Canadians wish to use it.

However, some sources believed that Diefenbaker might prefer a more high-powered conference to dramatize the Dominion's dissatisfaction with the whole trend of present economic relations between the two countries.

Syrians Shell Israelis

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—An Israeli spokesman said five members of an Israeli security patrol were wounded today in an exchange of heavy fire at the Syrian border near the village of Gonen.

The spokesman said the exchange of fire was continuing into the afternoon after lasting more than four hours. He declared the Syrians had disregarded a United Nations observer's order for a cease-fire.

Israeli sources said Syrians opened fire Monday at the Gonen settlement and on Israeli vehicles travelling north to the Sea of Galilee but no casualties were suffered. Jordanians were reported to have opened fire on an Israeli plane spraying crops south of the Sea of Galilee. One wing of the plane was hit but the pilot made a safe landing and escaped injury, an Israeli army spokesman said.

Nationals Stage Spine-Tingling Rally in Ninth

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American League halted a pulse-pounding rally by the National Leaguers in the ninth inning today to win the 24th annual all-star baseball game 6-5.

Apparently beaten after Detroit's Al Kalline had knocked in two runs and scored a third for a 6-2 lead in the final inning, the National Leaguers spurred in the ninth for three runs in a comeback which died when Gil Hodges of Brooklyn fled to left with the tying run on second.

It was the American Leaguers' first victory since 1954 and only the second for manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees in seven all-star appearances.

A crowd of 30,693 saw the Americans jump off to a two-run lead in the second inning on three walks and singles by Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and Cleveland's Vic Wertz and added another run in the sixth on a double by the Yankees' Bill Skowron, a wild pitch and a single by Yogi Berra.

Bell's Double Scores Two Runs

The National Leaguers, held scoreless for six innings by Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers and Billy Loes of Baltimore, fought back in the seventh inning against 37-year-old Early Wynn of Cleveland, pitching with only one day's rest. A pinch-hit double by Cincinnati's Gus Bell brought in two runs.

With one out, Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Ed Bailey of Cincinnati Redlegs lashed out back-to-back singles. Then Bell laid a neat double into the left-field corner, scoring Mays from third and Bailey from first.

The winning pitcher was Bunning, the Tigers' young strike-out specialist, who retired nine men in order to start the game. The loser was the Phillies' 28-year-old lefthander, Curt Simmons, who gave up two hits and two walks before he was relieved by Lew Burdette of Milwaukee in the second with the bases loaded and none out.

But two sparkling outfield plays by Kalline aided the Americans' victory, their 14th all-star triumph against 10 defeats.

A play-by-play description follows:

FIRST INNING
American—Kalline lifted an easy fly to Robinson. Fox popped to Temple behind second base. Kalline fled to Mays in deep centre.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

National—Temple, after running the count to 3 and 2, fled to Mantle. Aaron lined the first pitch to Williams. Musial, with a 3-2 count, fled to Williams.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNINGS
American—Mantle topped a slow bouncer inside the third base line and beat out Hoak's hurried throw for an infield single. Williams walked on a full count. Wertz slashed a single through shortstop scoring Mantle. Williams stopping at second.

Berra walked, filling the bases. Alston came out to the mound and motioned for Lew Burdette. Milwaukee's right-hander, who had been warming up in the bullpen, Kell raised a short foul pop to Musial. McMillan raced out into short centre for Bunning's short fly.

Kuenn walked to force over Williams with the second run. Fox fled to Robinson. Two runs, two hits, no errors, three left.

National—Mays was called out on strikes. Fox threw out Bailey. Robinson bounced out, Kell to Wertz. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

National—Wally Moon of St. Louis batted for Sanford and was thrown out by Fox. Red Schoendienst of Milwaukee Continued on Page 23

Salmon Import Boost Asked by U.K. Grocers

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Retail Grocers' Federation today asked the government to increase imports of canned salmon by 10 per cent.

Herman Kent, federation secretary, said in a letter to two government departments—the board of trade and the ministry of fisheries—that the suggested increase would "stop the present racketeering and obviate the unjustifiably high prices demanded of wholesalers and consumers."

Canned salmon, under a strict import quota, is considered a luxury item by most British housewives. An eight-ounce tin of choice Canadian sockeye sells for about five shillings, three pence. The same size tin of pink salmon sells for just under under four shillings (56 cents). British importers now are allowed to import salmon worth

North America. The quota for Russia is £1,100,000. The North American quota, chiefly spent in Canada, is £200,000 ($560,000) higher than the year before.

A feature of U.K. salmon imports in recent years is the increased use of Canadian salmon. From 1936 to 1938, imports of Canadian salmon averaged £770,000, annually, compared with £1,100,000 for United States salmon.

The final United States figure for 1956 is expected to be less than £900,000—more than £2,000,000 below the Canadian figure.

not sanctioned by statute," he said.

Strike action would be a breach of the oath of office taken by the employees on joining the service, Mr. Bonner said.

The attorney-general criticized the association executive for telling the members they had the right to strike.

"I think they have received poor advice when it is suggested to them that they have the right to turn the services off and on."

Mr. Bonner attacked what he said was "propaganda" put out by the association executive.

"Individual members of the government are personally resentful of the very obvious attempts that have been made to color the constitutional position of the executive as an attitude antagonistic to labor."

The position of the government has been that it is directed by "what we believe to be constitutional limitations on our actions."

"Our position is defined by statute, and can't be changed by whim."

Mr. Black said a "fairly elaborate" bargaining procedure was already established under the Civil Service Act, which had never been fully used by the association.

Mr. Bonner said the government had a "duty" to maintain services under provincial statutes.

It is the government view that all services are essential, and the attorney-general described as "remarkable" a suggestion that the association should decide what services should be maintained.

This was a usurpation of the functions of the ministers, he said.

There is "not the slightest possibility" that there would be interruption in the maintenance of provincial jails.

Czech Reds Hail Kremlin Bosses

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UP)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin carried the new party line to their Czech comrades in a whistle-stopping train trip to Prague today.

The Soviet leaders crossed the border from the Ukraine today by the Russian and Czech leaders and were met by a group of top ranking Czech Communist officials.

The two groups joined forces and continued their journey to ward this capital city along a route that was decorated with flags, bunting and slogans and marked by enthusiastic receptions from local populace.

Presumably the Soviet travellers filled in their travelling companions on the details of the recent Kremlin purges which ousted V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich, and the rise of Khrushchev to undisputed top rank in Moscow.

Tory Cabinet Plans New Look At Internal Security System

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Progressive Conservative cabinet plans to take a new look at the government security system, it was learned Monday.

This review will involve two problems: Exchange of security information with the United States and possible overhaul of the government's internal security system.

The first of these stems from the April 4 suicide of Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Cairo, after the U. S. Senate internal security sub-committee received 1951 charges that he was a Communist.

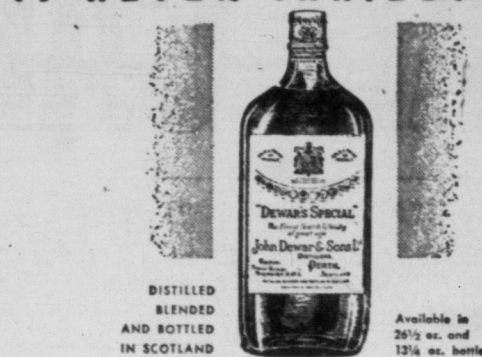

In late 1951, the RCMP sent a report to the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation that one of its secret agents in 1940 had reported that Mr. Norman was a member of the Communist party. Six weeks later, the RCMP informed the FBI that its original report was false. However, the original report branding Mr. Norman as a Communist in 1940 fell into the hands of the U. S. Sen-

Bailey drilled a single into right field, sending Mays to third. Gus Bell, Cincinnati, batted for Robinson and doubled into the left field corner scoring Mays and Bailey to reduce the American League lead to 3-2. Casey Stengel summoned Pierce to relieve Wynn. Mathews bounced out Skowron to Pierce covering first, Bell going to third. Banks went down swinging.

RUGGED COAST

Newfoundland's irregular coastline is studded with rocky cliffs rising 400 feet in places.

MAIN SPEAKERS at local civil service "strike rally" at Club Sirocco on Monday night were Alfred Bennett, left, assistant general secretary of B.C. Government Employees' Association, who is leading the fight, and Leslie Wismer, right, director of government services of the Canadian Labor Congress, who is acting in an advisory capacity to the executive of the employees' association in efforts to win bargaining rights with government.

Princess' Romance With Peer Sparked by Party Get-Together

LONDON (UP) — Princess Margaret attended a birthday party Monday night with several old flames but reserved most of her dances for the handsome Irish peer who is her most frequent escort these days.

The princess was escorted to the party of the Marquess of Dufferin and Ava by Lord Plunkett, a member of the Royal household who has squired Margaret for years.

Lord Patrick Beresford, the 23-year-old Irish peer who has been out with Margaret at least twice a week for the past three months, did not arrive until after dinner. He answered his invitation too late to be included in the seating arrangements.

But it wasn't long after dinner before he and Margaret were together. They stood talking in the flood-lit roof gardens for a while, Margaret smoking a cigarette in a long holder.

Then they danced — and kept on dancing together for most of the evening.

There has been increasing speculation about Margaret and Beresford ever since he was identified as the "mystery man" who took her to a London theatre earlier this year.

He turned up every day in the Royal box at the Ascot race meeting in June and drove Margaret to nearby Windsor to watch him play polo — a sport he shares with the Duke of Edinburgh.

Beresford is a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards and commanded the escort when Queen Elizabeth took part in the traditional trooping of the color ceremonies last month.

Plunkett has been frequently linked romantically with Margaret. However, he is regarded by well-informed sources to be out of the running because of his religion — he is a Roman Catholic.

Also at the party were two other old friends — Billy Wallace and Christopher Lloyd. Lloyd took Margaret dancing a few times last year. Wallace was a frequent escort in the past.

IMBIBERS STOCKPILING IN FEAR OF 'DRY' DAYS

First signs of "stockpile" buying by consumers of alcoholic beverages appeared in Victoria liquor stores today.

A few buyers made quantity purchases to hedge against a possible strike of provincial civil servants.

"There's no panic rush, but there's a noticeable tendency to buy in half-dozen and by the case," said one store employee.

Most bars in the city have already filled store rooms to capacity.

AUDREY AT TUTS

Deluge Disrupts 'Where's Charley'

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON
Times Music and Drama Critic

VANCOUVER — Sudden weather Monday soaked Vancouver in a day-long deluge enveloping the Malkin Bowl, and as a result opening night of "Where's Charley," Theatre Under the Stars second production of the year, was converted into a glorified dress rehearsal, complete with orchestra and costumes.

Not more than a dozen on-lookers huddled on dripping canvas chairs with umbrellas overhead instead of stars. But wet and sparse though the audience was, it responded with hearty laughter and spatters of genuine applause as the musical ran its merry course.

According to backstage comments members of the cast felt like a starved man at a banquet. The wit was not particularly noticeable from out front, however. In fact, in spite of wishing I had worn a bathing suit and not bothered trying to keep dry, the company succeeding in giving me an interesting and amusing couple of hours.

KITTY TOPS

Former Times staffer Kitty Dixon in an important supporting role had something to do with the effect on this member of the audience.

She sang with verve, and radiated personality across the footlights.

Kitty was a lovely confection in her picturesque costume.

She looked good enough, too, from the talent point of view to suggest intriguing possibilities for the future. The lilting soprano voice needs more strength, but is of a particularly fine quality and reveals an intensely musical nature.

There are other Victorians in the cast, too. Ruth Champion shows up well as one of the principal girls in the piquant gossip theme. Michael Rogers who played a leading role in the Student Prince, lends his outstanding tenor quality to the chorus of this current show.

STOOD UP WELL

An aspect that impressed me was the fact that these young Victoria and Vancouver artists stood up so well beside the New York professionals who carried the leads. Pim Herbert as Charley, Betty Oakes as Amy, and Jack Collins as foolish old Spettigue, were in roles that were as familiar as an old glove. Herbert had understudied Ray Bolger and played the part in New York. Miss Oakes, a lively blonde actress, had played Kitty in New York and Amy in the road show. Collins was doing the part he had created. Herbert was quite delightful in all his capacities, broad but crisp and not obvious in his comedy style an excellent lissom dancer. The show itself has the vigor and comedy of the beloved old chestnut "Charley's Aunt," from which it is adapted plus some pleasantly catchy tunes and a self American ballet sequence that bears the imaginative and high-styled imprint of Aida. Broadbent's choreography. After such a well-paced try-out, if the weatherman will only put the stars back over Malkin Bowl, TUTS should have another triumph.

Marines Too Rough, U.S. Navy Complains

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Navy said today 10 marines at this American naval base are under arrest and may be court-martialed on charges of mistreating prisoners. A navy spokesman said the men were arrested after the prisoners—presumably sailors—complained they had been slapped and "roughed up."
